Police seek help in solving murder

Law enforcement agencies in Taylor are seeking the help of local residents to help find the perpetrators of a Taylor homicide and hold-up.

Police said three men entered Toma's Party Store, 26897 Van Born, approximately 10 p.m., Oct. 25 and held up an employee and the store owner. The store owner was shot and killed at the scene, while the employee, a female cashier, also was shot. She is in critical condition at the hospital.

According to police, one of the hold-up men escorted the cashier to a rear room, while the two other robbers stayed in the front of the store and waited on customers.

The robbers located keys to the store, and locked the door. Then, according to police, one of the gunmen shot the store owner and the employee. The robbers unlocked the door and fled in an unknown direction.

One of the robbers is described as a young black male, in his mid 20s, about 5 feet, 6 inches to 5 feet, 8 inches. He is thin, dark complexion and short black hair, wearing a thin beard, mustache and goatee. He had on a black hat, dark pants and a brown thin jacket.

The second suspect is white, also in the early 20s, 5 feet 7, to 5 feet 10. He is clean shaven, very light complexion and has dark brown curly hair. He wore a tan leather coat and cap and dark pants. The third man is described in his 20s, about 6 feet 0

City Council meets tonight

City Council will hold its first meeting of November tonight at 8 p.m. The switch from the regularly scheduled first Tuesday of the month meeting was necessitated because of yesterday's general election.

The council usually meets the first, second and fourth Tuesdays of the month. Council is scheduled to discuss a controversial trailer park construction plan tonight.

Morris named to PCHA board

Donald Morris will carry on the work that his father, Carl W., handled for more than a decade.

City Council last Tuesday appointed Donald Morris to the Peoples' Community Hospital Authority to represent the city on the board. Carl Morris held the position for approximately 10 years before his death three weeks ago.

Bloodmobile coming to city

The Romulus Senior High School will sponsor a Red Cross bloodmobile from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m., Tues., Nov. 9. In order to donate, telephone 941-0800 to make an appointment.

Officials say that there is a severe need for blood at area hospitals.

"Giving blood is easy and should take only 45 minutes to an hour," officials say. "A safe and adequate supply of blood will only be available if volunteers in the Romulus area step forward and donate."

Day of Decisions

With the weatherman cooperating by providing unseasonably warm weather yesterday morning, lines quickly formed at the voting booths in Romulus where, despite the absence of any local issues, a record-setting crowd was expected. More than 200 voters cast their ballots before 10 a.m. yesterday. The complete results and an analysis of the results will be offered to readers next week.

For new Post Office

City is shopping for land

City Council last Tuesday gave Mayor William Oakley the green light to enter into an agreement to purchase land for the proposed Romulus Post Office.

Mayor Oakley asked council that the city enter into "an option agreement" to purchase approximately two acres of land located in the Goddard and Hunt Street areas. Presently, there is "an old foundry, an eyesore, on that property."

"We are all aware of the fact that we expect a new post office to be developed in our community within the next 12 months," Mayor Oakley informed council. "I remind you of Congressman Ford's (Congressman William Ford D-15th District) comment that we will be contacted by a member of the Real Estate Division of the Post Office for the purpose of obtaining our input as to the location."

Mayor Oakley went on to say that the administration "reviewed several locations in the community and has concluded the city's interest would best be served by developing the post office on the southwest corner of Hunt and Goddard."

Mayor Oakley said that the location of the proposed post office facility would precipitate the revitalization of downtown Romulus and in the same time clean up an undesirable site.

City funds study to microfilm records

City records may be microfilmed in the near future. The council last Tuesday night agreed to finance a feasibility study recommended by City Clerk Raymond Cantrell. "to microfilm a few records to see more accurately the cost that may be involved."

Presently, city documents and records are stored at the City Hall and the Police Department. Space to store such records is slowly running out.

"I'm sure most of you are well aware of the abundant supplies of records stored at the City Hall and the Police Department," Cantrell told council. "We currently house as close as possible seven years of records for easy access."

"The rest has been taken to the police department for storage. If the need arises for information prior to the seven years at the City Hall, we have to send an employee to the Police Department to retrieve the records requested."

Cantrell said that the present method "is not an efficient way of maintaining records, but the necessary space for storage is not available," therefore he sought other means to solve the problem.

In his search, Cantrell and Mayor William Oakley met representatives of the Microfilm Co. of Detroit, a firm that is located in Romulus. The city has obtained a quote of $200 to test the feasibility of microfilming some records.

"Only a few records would be microfilmed to see more accurately the cost that may possibly be involved," Cantrell said. "After the records have been microfilmed with council concurrence, we would like to review with council the end results."

Mayor William Oakley said the financing of the test project would come from the clerk's budget. "However, at present, there is no way imaginable to figure how much the system would cost. I'm scared to guess what it would cost us to microfilm all of the city's records."

Councilman John Lewkowicz

agreed that a "dry run would help give the city an idea of what we're getting into."

A motion offered by councilman Pete Bergerin and supported by Junior Block, found council concurrence to go ahead with the project. However, not before Mayor Pro Tem, Mary Ann Banks warned "that if we decide to do this (microfilm city records) the company doing the feasibility study should be made well aware that we intend to go out for bids and find the lowest bidder."

Schools place 2 tax proposals on Dec. ballot

Voters in the Romulus Community School District will be asked to approve two tax proposals viewed by the Board of Education as crucial to the future of the school district. On Monday, Dec. 6, voters will decide whether to give the school administration three additional mills for general school operations and one mill to repair hallways at the high school.

Superintendent of Schools, Dr. William Bedell, said the additional three mills would be levied over a period of five years to operate the school district.

The schools presently levy 36.15 (one mill is $1 for every $1,000 of assessed valuation of property).

"No way can we continue to operate this school district without additional money," Dr. Bedell stressed. "The school board was reluctant to ask the voters for the additional revenues because of the depressed economy, however, we had no choice."

Dr. Bedell went on to say that the school district has closed "a third of our buildings, laid off 25 percent of our work force and has cut back to five hours a day for the school schedule."

"Many of us are starting our third year without pay adjustments," Dr. Bedell continued, "in fact, we are going to reduce our teachers' salaries to the 1979-80 pay level."

Although the proposal to reduce the teachers' salaries across-the-board 22 percent is on the negotiating table, the Wayne County-MEA, which represents local teachers, is adamantly opposed to the proposal.

Because teachers are being paid presently at the regular level, a 22 percent cut would net out to a 14 percent cut for the entire school year if the school board proposal is accepted by the teacher's union.

"The school board obviously regrets having to take these drastic steps," Dr. Bedell said, "but the State of Michigan has put us in a position where we have no choice. The only other alternative is that we close schools around March which would mean the teachers would lose even more."

"And, of course, the kids wouldn't have school."

There are 269 school teachers in the district of approximately 5,600 students in the K-12 grades.

If the additional millage is granted by the voters in December, the school district would still be levying less millage for schools than the eight surrounding communities. Romulus levies 39.90 mills for all its school needs. The new mills, if approved, would increase the figure to 41.48. The Wayne-Westland schools presently receives 47.79 mills from its voters to support the school system.

Dr. Bedell said that most of the employee groups in the school system have already accepted concessions.

"We are not asking teachers to do anything that other employees have not already done. We have no other resources."

Animal neglect leads to arrest

A Romulus woman who had too many cats and didn't take care of them got herself in trouble with the law and the Humane Society last week.

The woman, Judith Brinker Fuller, of 15816 Woodmont, pleaded guilty to willfully not providing proper food for her almost 30 registered Maine Coon cats.

The defendant's plea was accepted in Romulus 34th District Court on Oct. 27.

The 42-year-old woman had had her cats, some champions, taken from her home on Oct. 5, by the Michigan Humane Society who had acted upon numerous complaints from one neighbor and two area cat breeders of the same breed.

Upon entry into the residence via warrant, MHS officers, a MHS veterinarian, Romulus Animal Control and Romulus police, found 20 live cats in unsanitary conditions and in very poor health without food or water in their cages.

Seven dead cats were found in two freezers and one cat was found below a basement window in a box, apparently dead for a period of time. Two Maine Coon females are unaccounted for.

The 20 live cats were taken to the downtown office of the Michigan Humane society where they were found to be suffering from a variety of animal sicknesses, along with improper weight due to the lack of food. The dead cats were found to have died from lack of food or sickness.

Fuller, when arrested on Oct. 7, stood mute at her hearing.

On Oct. 27, at her pre-trial where she pleaded guilty, Judge Henry Zaborowski asked the defendant why she failed to feed the cats. Fuller answered that she did the best she could and that at times she didn't have food for herself.

Judge Zaborowski upon accepting her plea postponed sentencing. Fuller agreed to officially turn over the 20 cats to the Michigan Humane Society, allow the MHS to inspect her home for one year and not to own any other animals for that year except her black poodle and a

Some appeared scary. Others toothless. And still others with fangs.

They were the hundreds of entries in the annual Bilmar's Supermarket "Great Pumpkin" contest staged in conjunction with the store's Old Fashion Country Days.

Bilmar's, in Downtown Romulus, sponsored a school-wide of all Romulus elementary schools pumpkin carving contest. The fun-event ties in with Old Fashion Country Days.

Students put their artistic talents to work and came up with many unique pumpkins. Each class selected a winner then pumpkins were delivered to Bilmar's and these were then judged.

Finally, and most difficult was the task to select a grand winner representing each school.

Judges who had this task were: Mayor William Oakley, Dr. William Bedell, Superintendent of Romulus Community Schools, and Larry Oaks, Assistant Manager, Bilmar's.

The winners are: Anthony Osborne, 4th grade; Barth Elementary, Matt Cahill, 6th grade; Cory Elementary, Steve Poletti, 1st grade; Halecreek Elementary, Maurice Washington, Kindergarten; Hayti Elementary, Bobby Welko, 6th grade; Merriman Elementary and Anthony Cladfelter, 5th grade; Wick Elementary.

All of the young students did a super job and we feel that they were all winners. Each participant (classroom winner) received a certificate for their artistic achievement, pointed out Oaks.

"Bilmar's would like to give recognition to the schools, principals and staff for their assistance and cooperation, also the Board of Education for their help," Oaks added.

guinea pig that she has been allowed to keep.

The Maine Coon Breeders and Fanciers Assoc., a nationwide organization of concerned breeders rallied to the news about these cats. MHS has had calls from all over the country and many of these animals will be going back to their original breeders. Some will be going to Texas, Ohio, and Maine. There are still some that will be needing homes. For information call MHS at 872-0026. All cats will have to be altered before they can go to a home. The approximate cost will be $25.

Passes moratorium resolution

Council lends its support in landfill battle

BEVERLY MCANALLY

Upon the request of City Treasurer Beverly McAnally, the Romulus City Council, in form of a resolution, rallied to the support of Huron Township.

The township is battling Wayne County which is considering an application for the placement of a sanitary landfill in Huron Township adjacent to New Boston.

The local officials were made aware of the urgency of the support via a letter by Milton Mack, Jr., Mayor Pro-Tem. The letter reads as follows:

"Dear Western Wayne County Public Officials:

On October 13, 1982, the Wayne County Solid Waste Planning Committee will consider an application for placement of a sanitary land fill on a prime industrial site in Huron Township adjacent to New Boston.

This application appears to not be in the best interest of the citizens of Huron Township and appears to run contrary to the intent of Act 641 to place less reliance on sanitary land fills as a means of disposal of solid waste.

Because this Planning Committee is considering other applications in an effort to grant as many applications as possible before the cutoff date, I believe it is in the best interests of the public officials of Western Wayne County that a moratorium be placed on all new applications filed after June 1, 1982, in order to insure that these potential sites meet the criteria set forth in Act 641.

The county acknowledges that existing facilities will meet current needs for the next twelve years. Therefore, there is no need to have new sites included in the five year plan which begins in 1983."

The Wayne resolution asked that the moratorium be placed on all new applications for sanitary landfills in the county until June 1, 1983, if the application for the landfill was filed with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources after June 1, 1982.

Romulus city council concurred unanimously with the resolution.

Only 7 speakers show

Public apathy shown for tax proposal

The levy would amount to 23 cents for $1,000 SEV

A public hearing, the second in two weeks on a proposed millage increase for Wayne County, attracted only seven speakers from an audience of 12 on Oct. 27.

The hearing was rescheduled by the County Board of Commissioners over concern that the first may not have been adequately publicized. An audience of only three appeared at the first hearing on Oct. 22.

Recommended by the County Board of Auditors for balancing the 1982-83 budget, the millage increase would add about $4.4 million to the County general fund to help overcome a $23.3 million deficit. The levy would amount to .2383, or 23 cents per $1000 of assessed valuation, and would cost less than $7 for a home appraised at $30,000.

The levy was proposed to take advantage of potential revenue from increased State Equalized Valuation of property allowed by state statute, Act 5 of Public Acts 1982, MCL 211.24e, which requires a public hearing before decision by the Board of Commissioners. Also, according to the statute, the Board cannot decide on the proposed levy until at least a week after the hearing.

At the hearing, Board Chairman Samuel A. Turner pointed out that if the proposed levy is turned down, the commissioners must eliminate $4.4 million worth of services to balance the budget.

Public officials present at the hearing to oppose the increase included James Kelly, Redford Township Supervisor; Jack R. Dodge, Finance Director, City of Livonia, who read a letter from Mayor Edward McNamara; Thomas L. Wayne, Dearborn Heights Councilman; and County Commissioner Mary L. Dumas.

Others who spoke in opposition were Thomas Malone, representing the Schaefer 7mi-8mi Lodge Homeowners Association; Rose Bogaert, Wayne County Taxpayers Association; and private citizens Helen Nalepa and Catherine Overbey.

"I don't propose at this time to buy the property, but obtain from its owner an option to buy," the mayor concluded.

Councilman Barry Baumann noted that the site was near the senior citizens complex and seniors may have to cross railroad tracks to get to the facility.

"That could pose a danger to them (seniors)," Baumann added.

The mayor replied that if a need for a pedestrian walk would arise, the city and the railroad company would work together to solve any problems.

Dorothy Icenogle, a senior citizen who was in attendance at the meeting, informed council "that wherever you go in this city, the city is bisected by railroad tracks," so it really doesn't make any difference. Just give us first class postal service — that's all we're asking," she said.

Councilman Jimmy Raspberry asked the mayor if the downtown business community was in agreement with the administration's choice "(of the property)".

"Without taking a poll of the businesses," the mayor replied, "it appears that some of the individuals I have discussed it with are agreeable to the site."

On a motion by Alan Lambert, supported by councilman John Lewkowicz, the administration was given the go ahead to enter into an option agreement with the owner for the property.

WCCC awarded federal grant to design programs for jobless

Wayne County Community College has been awarded a new five-year development grant under the auspices of the U.S. Department of Education's institutional aid program. The project commenced this month, and it will run through September 1987.

This marks the fourth consecutive award for the college as a developing institution of higher education, enabling WCCC to embark upon productive and far-reaching administrative, curricular and educational service improvements since it first qualified for Title III funding in 1976.

This year's portion of the grant was approved last month by the federal government for $364,000 through September 1983. Specific funding levels will be determined on a year-by-year basis, according to Gregory Maronick, management development administrator and program director. He expects the level to remain at about 50 percent of the college's original request for the 60-month duration of the program.

"Such sizeable cuts are perhaps understandable in terms of the state of the nation's economy," he said. "But it's going to be a challenge at the local level to repackage this program effectively. On the other hand, knowing we must perform prudently and with extreme efficiency at this time will probably work to our advantage in terms of helping to improve the college's overall operations."

At a meeting of Title III personnel held at Lansing Community College on Sept. 29, it was reported Mercy College of Detroit received the largest Title III grant of Michigan institutions in 1982-83. Among the other state colleges to receive funding this year were Orchard Lake St. Mary's College, Alpena Community College, Lansing Community College, Bay de Noc Community College, Kirtland Community College and Delta College.

At WCCC there are three basic components of the Title III operation. These activities have been broken down as academic improvements, student-centered support network and administrative improvements.

Head of the largest component, curriculum and instruction director Ronald Watcke, said the academic improvement program would help to facilitate the design of new programs to meet emerging employment needs throughout the service district and elsewhere. Dr. Watcke said a computer literacy program for students, staff and faculty would be put in place and development of new curricula would make retraining possible in selected disciplines. The component will also provide further automation of the learning resource centers.

The student-centered support network will help to achieve 11 institutional goals, according to the module leader Fred Novack, student services director. Among these goals he listed the development of a computer advisory and planning system for students, improved admissions and assessment procedures for new students and a plan for managing secondary and postsecondary articulation programs.

The other major portion of the WCCC program will facilitate the establishment of a research and development component for the institution in order to keep pace with ongoing changes in the student profile and to respond institutionally to such needs as may be dictated by the effects of growth. Headed by Milan Chonich, development director, the R & D component will help to develop new approaches to management efficacy on an organization-wide basis.

"Because of the changes in the economy, the work force has had to prepare for it," Dr. Chonich said. "This is a critical time and our R & D function must play a major role."

An award for DDA

The Michigan Commission for the Blind has awarded Detroit Diesel Allison, a division of General Motors Corporation, its annual Employer of the Year Award. The award was presented for DDA's outstanding efforts in hiring and placing the blind. One hand to present the award was Michigan Commission for the Blind Employment Specialist James Moore (right). Moore told the good news to Laura Byrd, one of five visually impaired employees at DDA's Parts Distribution Center on Van Buren in Romulus.

700 county employees sent home without paychecks

Samuel A. Turner, the chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, has confirmed that about 1700 employees were not paid on time Friday, but he expects that all will receive checks by the middle of this week.

"By no means do I expect an extended period without pay," said Turner. "Although we lacked enough to meet the Oct. 29 payroll, we're not completely without cash and money is trickling in every day."

"My best estimate according to information from our fiscal officers is that those due pay on the 29th should be greeted by checks soon after election day."

Turner said that fiscal officers are "working diligently" to stimulate the flow of income from fees and reimbursements, most of it from the County General Hospital, and to "free-up" money otherwise designated for special purposes which possibly could be diverted for a short period.

However, Turner warned again that employees must realize that paydays on time are still in jeopardy unless the State Municipal Finance Commission (MFC) will permit borrowing an additional $10 million for expenses through Nov. 30 when a new fiscal year begins. The County payroll is approximately $2 million each week, with about half the 3400 employees due pay each time.

As early as last month Turner and the fiscal officers forecast pay problems when the MFC granted the County permission to borrow only $10 million of $20 million sought. Another application for borrowing the second $10 million is now being considered by the MFC.

Part of the plan under which the first $10 million was borrowed included about 180 layoffs on Oct. 4. The plan for borrowing the second $10 million is the County Board of Auditor's 1982-83 budget recommendation which the Board of Commissioners deliberated throughout October, to be adopted Nov. 5, with amendments.

No additional layoffs are called for in the auditor's recommendation, but it features possible closing of the D.J. Healy home for abused and neglected children and a 2333 millage increase as potential revenue sources.

Quite a masquerade

When Halloween — or almost any occasion — comes around, you just can't be sure what senior citizens will turn up in. So, when the Lodge Lanes out on I-94 Service Drive decided to throw a Halloween Bowling Party, these seniors appeared in some strange costumes.

72,000 hunters heading north

Few traffic problems and a near-record season await deer hunters who will participate in the 16-day firearm season which kicks off Nov. 15, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Since the season opens on Monday, travel will be spaced over the preceding weekend (Nov. 12-14) and traffic congestion should be minimal," stated Auto Club Travel Operations Manager James Drury.

More than 72,000 hunters should travel to deer camps by the Nov. 30 conclusion and spend an estimated $250 million in Michigan for everything from fuel and lodging to hunting leases.

"Last year's season was the best ever, with 734,000 hunters taking 172,000 deer, including a record 123,000 bucks," Drury noted. "While 1982 is not expected to be as good because of last winter's severe weather that lowered the fawn survival rate, it still could be the second best season on record."

To help reduce losses over the upcoming winter, more antlerless deer permits will be issued. As a result, the Department of Natural Resources estimates firearm hunters should take between 150,000 and 160,000 deer over the season, down 7 to 11 percent from last year.

"An increasing number of deer are being taken from farmland areas of the southern Lower Peninsula, but two-thirds of the state's hunters will still travel into northern Lower and Upper Michigan," Drury said.

The only problem area for motorists may be along I-75 near the Zilwaukee Bridge near Saginaw. A combination of three lanes of traffic merging into two and motorists slowing to look at damage to the new Zilwaukee high bridge could cause slowdowns.

To help ease possible jams, shippers using the Saginaw River have been asked to restrict traffic during peak travel times Nov. 12-14 and Nov. 16-17.

The State Department of Transportation expects northbound traffic to be heaviest from 4 to 9 p.m. Friday (Nov. 12), 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday.

Many hunters are expected to prolong stays in the north because of the weekday opener.

Christmas bazaar set

A Christmas Bazaar will be held on Friday from 9 a.m. to 7:30 p.m., and on Sat. Nov. 6 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Church of God, 15633 Pennsylvania Road, Riverview.

Booths for all ages some of which are: Stitchery, Bakery, Woodcrafts, Beauty Shop, Attic Treasures, Fish Pond, Santa and many more.

A complete turkey dinner will be served Nov. 5th, from 11 till 6:30 for $4.50. On Saturday, a special taco luncheon is offered from noon till 2 p.m. for $3.00. For Turkey Dinner Reservations please call: 284-4567, walk-ins are welcome. A Snack counter will be open both days.

Country boy . . .

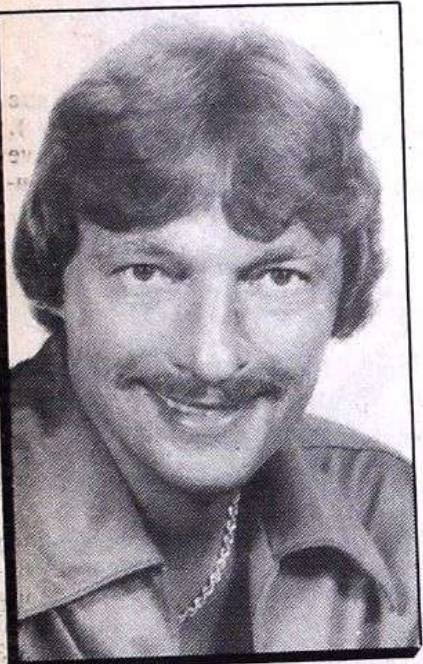

Blues, gospel and guitar lead to Nashville fame

By SUE BACHAND
ANP Staff Writer

If all goes as planned, there will be some very surprised people at the Ford Wayne Assembly Plant within the next few weeks.

The surprise will be the voice of Quality Control Engineer Dave Walz serenading them from their car radios and home stereos as his country western single "Living With A Ghost" hits the airwaves.

Walz recently signed a 12-month recording contract with Artisan records in Nashville and completed a four-record recording session early this month. In addition he signed a publishing contract for seven tunes he wrote with Elk publishing — and that, folks, makes him a real recording artist.

Dave, who? Walz, and it's not a name that will easily be forgotten if all the pieces fall into place for the tall, lanky, aspiring talent. Singing since he was a child for family gatherings and at church, he began singing at political rallies and toured all of Michigan in his early career. Marriage to wife, Mary, and the arrival of daughter, Davena, now 19, and Michael, 17, put a halt to Walz' career for a while, although he kept satisfying his artistic cravings with appearances for charities and performing the guitar mass at his church.

But, as will happen, the show business urge struck again and in 1974, Walz walked in cold at a local club, auditioned and remained for a four-month engagement. "It would have been longer," but I was on four-month shift changes at Ford's so I could only entertain when I was working days," he said. Those four-month stints continued for four years, and Walz' legion of fans continued to grow.

The fans' devotion and demands prompted the first recording effort of the budding star, when he cut an album of his most requested songs. He produced 700 records and tapes and sold them all — at a total profit of $1,900 which went to finance his second record enterprise.

That second effort introduced him to Judy Wyllie, also a Wayne Ford plant worker and former record promoter. It took her months to get back with him after hearing his effort, but she did encourage him to cut a demonstration tape of a gospel song which led to a gospel album.

Wyllie is now his manager, and the two have come a long way along the road to stardom for Walz.

Cuts from that religious album were played on the local radio station and one standard became the sign-off theme of radio station WCXI — and other "jocks" used cuts from that album for more than a year.

Wyllie encouraged Walz to go back to songwriting, which he maintains he does best riding the tractor at his 5-acre New Boston farm. Whatever system, it must work, as he was nominated for the 1981 Grammy award as Best Country Male Performance on an Album for his rendition of "Assembly Line Blues," and his composition "Dreams" was also nominated as best song for the Grammy.

"Assembly Line Blues" was a smash in the Pontiac-Flint areas but he couldn't persuade the real "power" stations to play it, Walz noted. "They were afraid of it," Wyllie commented. "It was at the beginning of the recession and the timing was off."

Walz and Wyllie distributed and promoted those first efforts themselves and readily admit that method is not the way to gain national recognition, although the Grammy nominations might belie their criticism of their own efforts.

A program director in Toledo heard Walz' work and put him in contact with the Nashville people — that led to his recording and publishing contracts. Walz is obviously proud of the caliber of people he is now working with, noting that his record producer is also responsible for many Billy Joel productions.

Walz is very realistic about his chances for success noting that he's, "a professional pessimist."

"The Nashville people painted a very realistic picture for me. I'm going to be lucky to break even with the release of the second record ("Time and Time Again," due for release in January) but this business isn't known for making money on records. The records gain you the popularity for personal appearances which can lead to money," he noted.

His family, he explained, is supportive of his efforts and his wife and daughter hope for his success but are a bit afraid of losing their place in his life. His son is his strongest critic, listening to everything and trying to improve his product.

But his strongest lack of support is with his co-workers, many of whom don't even know about his "other life."

But Walz' makes it very clear — he really doesn't feel that he's pursuing this dream for money — "It's more of an urge, like a lot of people have, to meet the challenge, to be able to say, 'Yeah, I did it.' I guess I just want to leave my mark."

Maybe he has already.

PHILIP MEIZELS, D.D.S.

EMERGENCY MEASURES

Restorations (fillings, caps, bridges, etc.) have a way of breaking or getting lost at the most inconvenient time — like when you want to look your best. The only permanent kind of repair is that made by your dentist, but here are a few emergency measures.

If a filling falls out (and it happens in the best of families) it has to be replaced by the dentist. You can ease some of the discomfort by rinsing with luke-warm water and then placing a piece of cotton dipped in oil of cloves into the cavity.

If a crown, jacket or cap pops out, don't put it back with commercial glue. If you can leave it out until you see your dentist — do so. If you must have it in place for appearance's sake, vaseline or denture cream will hold it in place temporarily.

Don't try to repair a broken denture or bridge yourself. It could damage both the appliance and the tissue against which it rests. A broken denture is a real emergency and can be repaired quickly by the dentist. A single fractured tooth in a denture can also be replaced quickly by the dentist.

Here's special offer for senior citizens

Michigan Consolidated Gas Company is urging senior citizens to apply immediately for shutoff protection and special rates which are available to them.

"Now is the time for senior citizens to apply for these special programs," said Stephen Ewing, vice-president, customer service, for the utility.

"The senior citizens' rate, which is available to most people 65 years or older, can save up to $28 a year," Ewing said. "Those who participate in the senior citizens' rate will also be eligible for service on gas appliances at 50 percent off our regular labor and diagnostic charges."

All persons eligible for the senior citizens' rate will automatically be included in the program providing for shutoff protection. Those persons who are 60 years of age or older should also contact Mich Con, to be identified as senior citizens and to protect them from shut offs during the cold winter months.

To be eligible for the senior citizens' rate a person must

- (1) be the head of a household and at least 65 years old;
- (2) have a primary residence where the rate is to be applied (this rate is not for a seasonal home, for example);
- (3) not have natural gas air conditioner, a natural gas swimming pool heater or natural gas outdoor lighting;
- (4) agree to stay on

Belleville to host world hunger rally

Have you ever wondered what you could do to help alleviate the problems of world hunger?

The Belleville Ministerial Association may have a solution for you. On Tuesday, Nov. 9 from 6 to 8:30 p.m. at the Trinity Episcopal Church, 11575 Belleville Rd. in Belleville, a community-wide world hunger rally will be held.

The purpose of the rally is two-fold:

First, the program will be informative. David C. Bower who is the CROP Church World Service Director for Michigan will be the keynote speaker.

Bower was involved in Church World Service program planning in Pakistan and India and responsible for development of programs related to nutrition, disaster relief and food-for-work projects.

Also, representatives from various community agencies will be present to share the kinds of services which they offer to area residents.

Second, the program will be experimental in that participants will be able to share in a simple meal. A free-will offering for hunger will be taken.

On Sunday, Nov. 14, beginning at 1 p.m. and extending to approximately 5:30 p.m. a 20 mile Bike-A-Thon to raise funds for hunger will be in progress.

The Bike-A-Thon will begin and end at the Romulus Community United Methodist Church, 11160 Olive in Romulus.

Prior to the event, bikers will have sought sponsors who contribute money on a per mile basis. The goal is to raise $3000.

Those persons who are interested in participating in the Bike-A-Thon or desire more information, can contact Brian Fujii at 697-0412.

Alcoholism Awareness Week

Beyer to sponsor 'alcohol abuse' seminars

What is the difference between a "social drinker" and an alcoholic? What are the symptoms and phases of the disease of alcoholism? What effect does problem drinking have on the family unit? These and other questions will be topics of a free educational program at Beyer Memorial Hospital which will begin on November 9 during Alcoholism Awareness Week, and continue on each Tuesday thereafter in November. Each session is open to the public, and persons of all ages are encouraged to attend one or all of the programs to gain information on this critical health topic.

Each of the programs — on November 9, 16, 23 and 30 — will be held from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the second floor cafeteria of the hospital, 135 S. Prospect, Ypsilanti.

According to Art Schaffran, chief alcoholism therapist at Beyer, community education is an important part of the role of the hospital, particularly in an area such as alcohol abuse.

"Programs such as this one provide much-needed education to people who may not know where to turn for facts on this disease," he said. "Perhaps there are parents who want information to help and understand a drinking child, or vice versa. Attending one or more of these programs can help by itself, or can lead the interested person to resources for finding further information."

The November 9 program will feature a film describing the experiences of a "social drinker" who became an alcoholic and then began the process of recovery. The November 16 program will be a presentation of the symptoms and phases of the disease. The November 23 session will feature another film which deals with the effect of alcoholism on the family. The final session, November 30, will offer three short films on recovery from alcoholism.

Beyer provides inpatient and outpatient alcohol therapy programs, including individual, family and small group therapy, a lecture series, and Alcoholics Anonymous meetings. Interested persons can attend one or all of the programs.

Further information on the educational series, or on the Beyer alcoholism therapy program, can be obtained by calling the hospital, 484-2200, extension 439.

Methodist moving faith into action

"Our Ministry...Moving Faith Into Action" is the theme Community Methodist Church in Romulus has established for its second year in the new building on the corner of Olive and Bibbins.

Directing the stewardship mission are the Reverend Donald W. Joiner, stewardship consultant of the Detroit Conference of the United Methodist Church, and the Reverend Margery A. Schleicher, pastor of Community United Methodist Church.

On Nov. 7, members of the congregation will be visiting and sharing their joy about the vision with other members and friends of the church.

As they share with one another, they will be remembering that this vision was one that the late Carl W. Morris held before him as the preparations for this stewardship mission were initiated with Mr. Morris providing leadership as chairperson.

In dedication to Carl Morris' commitment to the Community United Methodist Church's ministry, the stewardship mission is continuing under the leadership of Josephine Rehkopf.

Community United Methodist Church's celebration of its second year in their new building began in late September with the Key Event. The event renewed the participants' awareness and vision of the contributions God gave all people through the Christ event which were celebrated again with Christmas, Good Friday, Easter, and Pentecost services of worship.

The Reverend James Tuttle, pastor of St. Matthew's United Methodist Church in Ypsilanti, proclaimed these messages anew for members and friends during this key event celebration.

"On the Threshold of a Dream" will be the sermon that the Reverend Mr. Joiner will be preaching at the 11 a.m. Thursday service of worship. During this service the visitation team will be consecrated by the Reverend Joiner to go out and to share with other members and friends.

VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP BOARD MINUTES

REGULAR BOARD MEETING MINUTES OCTOBER 26, 1982

Meeting called to order by Supervisor Greathouse at 7:30 p.m. Pledge of Allegiance.

Present on Roll Call: Greathouse, Dudick, Mussehl, Edwards, Heifner, Jahr and Kureth.

Others in attendance: Attorney James, Engineer Levine, Secretary Tadrack, Department Heads Rairick, Hall, Price, Chief Keller and approximately 50 interested citizens.

Agenda: Motion Dudick, support Mussehl, to approve Agenda as presented. CARRIED.

Supervisor Greathouse stated he would add a Supervisor's Report to the Agenda after New Business and report on three items. Letter from two Trustees regarding last Fiscal Year Audit, meeting with AFSCME regarding implementation of the MERC Decision, and negotiations with Committee representing Police Department.

Audience: Jerry Maton reported he had been informed late in the afternoon that sludge from the Ypsilanti Waste Water Treatment Plant had been dumped at the corner of Hoeft and Huron River Dr. Stan Price, Building Inspector responded the material was lime not sludge and he had placed a stop on the dumping the day after it started. Ypsilanti also placed a hold on the material as the trucker was to notify them of each dumping site. Material has been tested by a laboratory firm and ruled to be safe for use on farm land.

Trustee Kureth requested an investigation by the Wayne County Health Department. Supervisor Greathouse stated he would check it out in the morning. Ron Yurchak addressed the Board in regard to Halloween and suggested notices be placed in the paper warning about candy children may receive and suggested extra protection by the Police Department. Supervisor Greathouse responded he had no objection to a notice being placed in the newspaper but he had viewed various warnings on TV urging children to trick or treat in their own neighborhoods and small children should be accompanied by adults.

Chief Keller stated he and two other Officers had been visiting the elementary schools giving crime prevention talks that pertain to Halloween, what kind of candy to accept and how to dress. An article will appear in the Belleville Enterprise on Wednesday regarding Halloween safety and he also has arranged for extra staff to be on duty.

Supervisor Greathouse referred to letter he received from Trustees Edwards and Heifner in regard to the 1981-82 Audit Report which was due in June and has not been received. Trustees felt ample time had elapsed for Audit to be available to the present board and citizens in the community. Supervisor contacted the Auditor and received a written response today (Tuesday).

Auditor stated he was unable to complete the Audit due to decisions needed to be made by the Board; Recreation Department Soccer Funds and whether or not General Fund should receive interest on its loan to Water and Sewer Fund for Super Sewer. Auditor had also mentioned, on the telephone, the liability on police cars purchased from Wayne County.

Trustees stated they were not satisfied with the Auditor's answer. Trustee Edwards further commented that the items referred to were normal book-keeping practices, if the Auditor could show where the previous board directed him to follow something other than normal procedure he could understand his problem. Why had he not asked the old board for direction? Fiscal year ended March 31, 1982, Audit was due in June and this is October.

Motion Edwards, support Heifner, to demand the Auditor be instructed to present the Audit Report immediately. CARRIED. (Nay Jahr)

Supervisor Greathouse reported on meeting held with AFSCME Wednesday, October 20, 1982, in regard to placing four employees back in the bargaining unit as directed by the Michigan Employment Relation Commission (MERC) ruling of March, 1982. AFSCME agreed to the slotting of the four employees back to the discussed classifications. Police Secretary would remain a Secretary, Financial Secretary to Account Clerk, Secretary to the Clerk to Account Clerk and Building Maintenance Man as Building Maintenance. AFSCME requested these employees be red circled, which in industry means you place the employee in the classification but continue to give them the higher rate and give the remaining bargaining unit employees the same 8% increase the salaried employees had received. Supervisor related the negotiating team was not in agreement to take all the bargaining unit employees out of the unit and give them increases but to place the four employees back in the unit at the classification and rate where they belonged. Another meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday, October 27th and Supervisor wanted to advise the Board of AFSCME position and unless there was an objection by the Board he would like to proceed to re-classify the four employees in line with the demands originally made by AFSCME and in line with the MERC decision.

Motion Edwards, support Mussehl, to proceed to re-classify the Police Secretary, Financial Secretary, Secretary to the Clerk and the Building Maintenance employee to the bargaining unit as directed by the ruling handed down by the Michigan Employment Relations Commission in March, 1982. CARRIED.

Supervisor Greathouse reported on Union Agreement with Local 157 U.A.W. representing Van Buren Police Officers. Contract was ratified by the UAW Members on October 19, 1982.

Motion Edwards, support Dudick, to ratify the Union Agreement with Local 157 UAW representing Van Buren Township Police Officers. CARRIED.

Attorney Report: Attorney James reported oral arguments were held today (10-26-82) before the Civil Rights Commission regarding the Banotai Case. Commission took the matter under advisement and a decision is expected within the next 60 to 90 days.

Auditor Report: None.

Voucher List: Motion Dudick, support Mussehl, to approve Water & Sewer Vouchers as presented. CARRIED.

Motion Mussehl, support Edwards, to approve General Fund Vouchers as corrected (ck #2168 to $445.30 instead of $490.80). CARRIED.

Reports: September Day Seniors and Police Department Reports were received.

Announcements: Trick or Treat Night officially designated as Sunday, October 31, 1982, 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Candidates Night will be held at the Township Hall on Friday, October 29th, 7:30 p.m.

Supervisor thanked the Board for their cooperation and he appreciated their support and the support of the people in the township.

Adjournment: Motion Dudick, support Heifner, to adjourn at 8:55 p.m. CARRIED.

Respectfully submitted, Delphine C. Dudick, Clerk

Ooh, that's scary

Over 90 assorted goblins, witches, werewolves, vampires and of course Scary Counts gathered last Saturday for WDIV/Channel 4's "The Scariest Kid", contest which was co-sponsored by McDonald's restaurants. Out of the participants, five finalists appeared in "Count Scary's Halloween Party" Oct. 29, and one was chosen "scariest kid." Pictured here with Count Scary is Stephen Banko, a semi-finalist who hails from Romulus.

Children's home gets reprieve

Adoption of the 1982-83 Wayne County budget tentatively scheduled for Nov. 5 may include funding of the D.J. Healy children's home for only 60 days while alternate housing in private facilities is sought for its abused and neglected youngsters.

If other suitable housing at feasible cost is found in that period, the home would be closed Jan. 31, according to a recommendation of the Ways and Means Committee of the County Board of Commissioners which deliberated the budget throughout October.

The committee recommendation to the Board would concur with the County Board of Auditors. Closing the home is part of the auditors' total budget proposal with appropriations amounting to $283.1 million for the new fiscal year beginning Dec. 1.

After consideration by the committee, including any amendments, the report must lay on the table for 72 hours before adoption by the Board. The report is scheduled to be placed on the table some time this week.

If the youth home is closed, it would save the County about $1.6 million per year, the auditors estimate. Typically, about 35 children are there each day during short-term waits for more permanent residence in foster homes.

For the 60-day funding period, a special committee has been appointed to determine where arrangements can be made to house public wards in private agencies, and at what cost for equal service.

Commissioner Kay L. Beard, the chairman of the special committee, the Committee on Child Care Services Alternatives, has already submitted a report to the Ways and Means Committee showing D.J. Healy with the highest per diem cost among six local facilities evaluated.

Her comparison shows D.J. Healy costing as much as $114 per day per child, ranging downward to as low as $45 per day per child among the others which include St. Francis Home for Boys, St. Vincent/Sarah Fisher, Vista Maria, Christ Child House, and Denby Memorial Home.

Commissioner George J. Orzech, previously opposed to closing the Healy home, said he has changed his opinion since touring some of the other facilities.

"The D.J. children are being shortchanged because the other facilities are much better," said Orzech.

Student becomes a teacher

An Adrian College student who was once a student at Romulus High has returned to the classroom of her high school days. She's Lori A. Wright, one of six Adrian College students who have temporarily joined the teaching force at Romulus by becoming associate teachers.

Ms. Wright, the daughter of Andrew and Marjorie Wright of Kenwood Street in Romulus, is a senior majoring in history. She is a member of Phi Alpha Theta, the honorary history fraternity, and is teaching social studies to seventh and eighth grade students at Clinton Middle School.

Lori is a 1979 graduate of Romulus.

Associate teachers work alongside regular classroom teachers for one semester — usually during their senior year. They start by getting to know the children and helping individual students. Gradually they take on more and more responsibility. Elementary associate teachers eventually teach class all day (for several days); at the secondary level, associate teachers work up to handling four classes per day. This teaching experience is required before teacher candidates can receive state certification.

St. Matthew's is setting for Curtis-Crank nuptials

MR. AND MRS. RONALD A. CURTIS JR.

In an afternoon ceremony September 11 at St. Matthew's United Methodist Church of Ypsilanti, Deborah Ann Crank became the bride of Ronald A. Curtis Jr.

The Rev. James Tuttle presided at the double ring rite which joined in marriage the daughter of Mrs. Ruth Clark of Nashville, Tenn. and the son of Ronald A. Curtis Sr. of Hannan Road, Romulus.

An Ypsilanti resident, formerly of Tennessee, the bride was escorted down the aisle by her brother, Richard Crank. The gown she wore, made by her mother, featured a square neckline and puffed sleeves on the lace bodice and a gathered waist sashed with satin.

Her hair was fashioned into a bridal braid with baby's breath woven through to match that in her colonial bouquet of white daisies, lavender tea roses and purple statice.

Tammy Maskell of Rochester, a friend and fellow employee, was maid of honor in a lavender print gown with a draped neckline. A little nosegay of roses, carnations and baby's breath completed her ensemble.

The bridegroom's sister, Lisa Curtis, wore a solid lavender frock for her role as bridesmaid.

Charles De Stefano of Southgate was best man and Daniel Curtis of Imlay City, the bridegroom's brother, was usher.

Some 65 guests attended the reception which followed at Belle Plaza Hall in Belleville. The bride's mother received in a formal gown of lilac chiffon.

At the end of October the newlyweds honeymooned enroute to their new home in California.

The new Mrs. Curtis attended Eastern Michigan University for three years and was employed at Aubrey's Station in Ypsilanti prior to her marriage. Her husband, a 1977 alumnus of Belleville High School, spent four years in the U.S. Navy and has worked as a welder since his discharge.

Hacienda meat loaf

Meat loaf is a standby of budgetparing cooks. Not only do meat loaves extend expensive meats, they can be endlessly varied by changing the seasonings. A meat loaf with a truly different flavor is this Hacienda Meat Loaf.

For a great Mexican style dinner, serve Hacienda Meat Loaf with bean burritos or red or green chili burritos. Burritos are readily available frozen, to be heated and served according to package directions.

- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/4 cup chopped celery
- 1/4 cup chopped ripe olives
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1 tablespoon chili powder
- 1 teaspoon bottled taco sauce

Hacienda Meat Loaf

- 8 taco shells, crushed fine
- 17-1/4 oz. can taco sauce or hot tomato sauce
- 2 pounds ground beef
- 2 eggs, lightly beaten

Combine crushed taco shells with sauce for tacos; let rest 10 minutes. Mix with remaining ingredients. Place in greased 9x5x3 inch; shape into a loaf. Bake in reheated 350-degree oven for 1 hour. Let rest 10 minutes before removing from pan and slicing for serving. Serves 8.

Note: Six frozen or refrigerated stone-ground corn tortillas may be substituted for taco shells. Heat each in hot oil until crisp; drain on paper towels and crush.

"A loafer always has the correct time."
Kin Hubbard said it.

potpourri

By Lee Smith
Suburban Living Editor

Many a book has been written and screenplay filmed on the subject of "things" taking over — enveloping a community, a country, the world. Birds, gigantic insects, monsters, blobs, robots have all been awarded their day of ultimate power. But I've yet to read or see where as inanimate an object as paper — yes, paper — has become the force to dread.

At the BGS Studios, Lot 82 (more familiarly known as "our house"), "take" number umteen is about to be recorded. That's the scene where yours truly flies shrieking out the door as a hurricane of paper in various shapes, forms, colors and weights comes sweeping out after her. Squadrons of Christmas catalogs flipping their pages tauntingly; sheets of newsprint suffocating and smudging her with their lines of inkiness; maps, trip-tiks, brochures, pamphlets, street guides following her highway of flight; bills, receipts, cancelled checks, due bills, credit slips obscuring her footsteps; grocery lists, super market flyers, refund coupons flailing away at her body; clipped recipes souffling, sauteing, broiling and boiling her in their hot and sticky or cold and clammy wake; piles of letters beating her brain for answers; bushels of election campaign propaganda screaming their printed promises into her ears; reams of copypaper enveloping her in clouds of large-print memos reminding her she has columns to write, lines to type, columns to write . . . and miles to go before she sleeps.

Sound like a nightmare? That's what the paper situation is getting to be around the Not-So-O.K. Corral; I can't keep up with it anymore. It's actually gaining control!

Not only do we subscribe to a daily newspaper, two weeklies, an extra Sunday edition out of Detroit and a Friday afternoon out of Toledo (all with countless tabs fattening their innards) but there are at least eight circulars that come calling regularly on Monday. Four of 'em are competing supermarkets, two are discount houses and the others are advertising tabs which account for a small heap just by themselves.

That's not to mention the three drugstores that bi-weekly send out their offerings, the cleaning establishment's discount coupon sheet or pseudo magazines from a couple, three or four hardware dealers.

Then there's the rest of the mail which, nearing the first Tuesday in November, was bursting with "vote for me" entreaties and what, with December 25 smiling in the distance was cramful of its library of foods, fads, fantasies, furs and frivolities (better known as Christmas "dream books").

I'm not even going to count the regular post which includes Kiwanis club, postmaster, newspaper guild, country club and congressmen newsletters. Neither will I mention the written appeals from St. Jude's, Easter Seals, Community Chest, marathon runners, veterans, the missions or the police-firemen-paramedic associations.

Nor will I include the seven monthly glossies and two bi-monthly slicks that add to the "I can't bear to throw'em away" heaps of magazines. (Who can toss out a Southern Living for heaven's sake?)

And there lies the clue to my woes. I collect. I save. I hoard. I clip maniacally and the piles of paper mount up, using valuable breathing space — in the family room, kitchen, pantry, desks, chests; on shelves and in drawers; tucked in handy sofa-side baskets, in folders which never see a file, between pages of books, in handy napkin holders.

Household hints, decorating ideas, restaurant reviews, Bombeck Van Buren columns, travel suggestions, engagements-weddings-births-pictures of loved ones are all faithfully clipped (those "shears" are ever present) and, too, find their way into neat but space-consuming mounds.

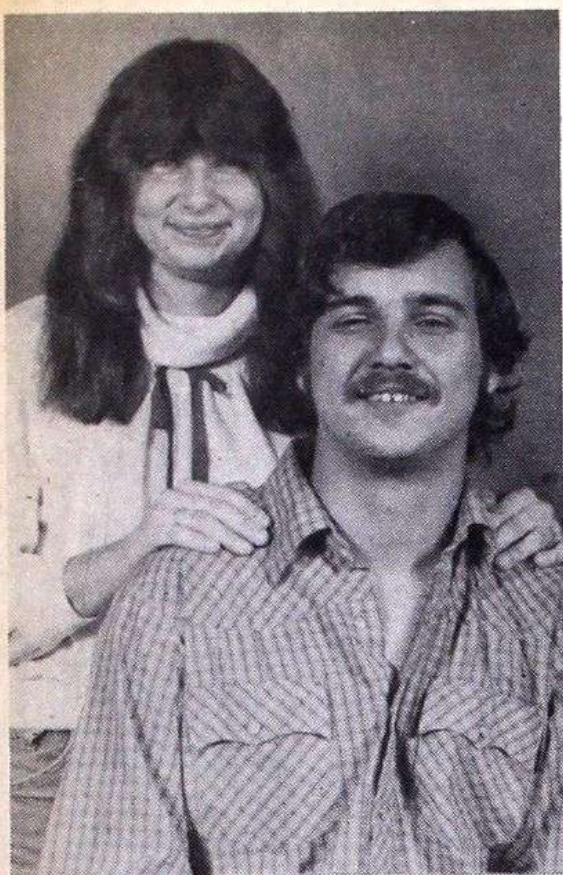

And now, with a wedding on the horizon, the bridal stuff is beginning to shape up into another select little niche. Oh, lordy, I've got to find a system for uncluttering my life.

Maybe — if I did away with the mailbox, threw out those scissors, quit cooking and gave up reading — maybe that'd do the trick. D'ya spouse?

our opinions

Apathy? Not in Sumpter Township

When the Wayne County Board of Commissioners held its second public hearing on a proposed millage increase, only seven people showed up to debate the issues and to inform the board that this is no time for tax hikes.

When Inkster held a recent recall of a school board trustee, less than 10 percent of the electorate took time out to cast their ballots.

And in most national elections, less than 50 percent ever vote. Apathy. For sure.

But, when owners of a landfill recently attempted to get a permit to bring in toxic wastes into Sumpter Township they found the Supervisor, Jim Reeves, and the township board ready to fight all the way to the Supreme Court to keep out the waste.

Sumpter won the battle.

It was won with the sweat and toil of hundreds of concerned citizens and officials who refused to bend to the pressures of "sweet contracts" and promises. For hours citizens sat in the township hall board room until the final decision was rendered.

Residents sat there wondering what would happen if the state board would approve the application. And while they pondered, youngsters carrying signs declaring, "I want to grow up in Sumpter Township" paraded outside.

"I'm proud of this township and the people who live here," Reeves told his audience. And he has reason to be.

They believe that they can change their own destiny if they work together.

We only wish there were more people like that.

When adults spoil the fun for kids

There weren't many kids out "trick-or-treating" Sunday night.

Some blamed the torrential rains that fell prior to sundown and kept drizzling in spots throughout most of the evening. Others say that parents were uncomfortable and nervous because of the rash of deadly Tylenol killings, and the other reported tampering with food and drugs to allow their kids in the streets this year.

One can't listen calmly when you hear that someone has been poisoned or drugged by sick people who are bent on the destruction and murder of innocent people.

"Only 10 youngsters showed up at our house Sunday night," one mother said. "I understand the concerns and fears. But we adults can sure ruin a child's world, can't we?"

It has gotten so bad that some townships and cities have decided to ban "trick-or-treat" for the safety of the children.

That, too, is understandable.

But, unless we find the causes and remove these sick people from society, they may find a way to destroy our Thanksgivings or our Christmases.

Or, must we all, like some reader advocates, purchase metal detectors and chemistry sets to determine, before consumption, whether a foreign object has been placed in our food or a poisonous element combined in our drugs?

Did you vote?

Although the final tally isn't in, voter turnout in most precincts in The Associated Newspapers circulation area appeared to be above average. In fact, those who showed up early at the polls in hopes of beating the rush found themselves standing in line.

We would like to believe that the political candidate's campaigns and the large number of voter issues stirred the usually apathetic voter into casting his or her vote.

We would like to believe that the more than 230,000 unemployed auto workers and the more than 600,000 people unemployed in the state have come to realize that "their vote does count."

We do believe, and we will continue to believe, that the best way to bring change about politically is by casting a vote.

Schools must learn to be financially responsible

Ms. Mack has raised some very important issues, but who is listening?

Consider this: The Van Buren School Board is comprised of people who have little expertise in operating a business with a multi-million dollar budget. Given this awesome responsibility of overseeing the education of our children and lacking necessary business skills, our board hires people with "business acuity" plus educational background.

This is our superintendent, Dr. Elvin Peets. He is the top paid employee of Van Buren Schools at $52,900 plus fringes. Surely Ms. Mack and Mr. Mooradian, you aren't suggesting that we hire another specialist?

Just for comparison, Detroit Public Schools pay their superintendent $66,000. Furthermore, in July it was reported that Dr. Peets was a finalist for the superintendent position in Kalamazoo. Their school system is about twice as large as Van Buren. Starting salary was $53,000.

Dr. Peets was quoted as calling his intended move a "professional advancement". Such a move for $100 per year should make you ask some questions. But who would listen? Incidentally, Dr. Peets has an assistant, Raymond Kohr is the Director of Personnel. Mr. Kohr's salary is in the $48,000 range. His duties include interviewing and hiring (pretty slow these days, I'd guess), keeping seniority lists in order, and projecting future enrollment trends.

At your tax level, Ms. Mack, it will take you and 35 other taxpayers to pay these two salaries. So far, your children have received ZERO instruction. It has been suggested that one of these gentlemen handle both of these jobs. Sure, it would be a big job, but so is the salary. Nobody would listen.

Cuts were made at the administrative level. Junior High assistant principals were made to teach half time. These positions were restored to full time assistant principal after one year. Apparently it was too much of a burden on the principals. This reduction left them with only two secretaries and one counselor. The same evening the board restored these cuts, they also gave Central Administration the go-ahead to hire another secretary. It seems that our top administrators were having to do some of their own paperwork. The board listened.

Yes, Ms. Mack, the voters have spoken, but who is listening? This is also the second time that the voters have overwhelmingly said "NO MONEY FOR ATHLETICS". Our Boosters worked faithfully, but still fell $30-$35,000 short.

In the new budget, this is referred to as "deficit in the athletic fund".

This may sound like old news, but Van Buren teachers have been working under an expired contract since 1978. Our board's top employees have shown themselves either incapable of or unwilling to advise the board in such a direction as to settle.

They've even had a professional negotiator on their payroll since 1978.

Of 36 districts in Wayne County, your teachers rank No. 31 in salary. Perhaps you should ask where your top administrators rank.

During the week of Oct. 11, our administrators met to discuss the "state of the district". Some, but not all, of our school board members were present at both sessions. (Was their dinner provided by the taxpayers?) Our Director of Business Affairs, Mr. Jack Hosmer (more business acuity) made several recommendations. Among them are:

A. Strongly consider closing 1 or 2 more schools;

B. If matters get worse, consider suspending bus service entirely;

C. Consider shortening the school year.

Ms. Mack, I respect and admire your willingness to speak up. I fear, however, that you won't be heard. You see, Dr. Peets has already stated that the figures given for Business & Administration expenses (furnished by Wayne County Intermediate School District) were not accurate. He should know, he's our top employee. Several courses of action are available to you. Whether you are active or passive, one of these courses will be pursued. A.) You can continue to vote NO on new millage requests. Unfortunately, as we've seen, cuts will begin and remain at the instructional level. Your children's education will continue to suffer.

B.) You can demand that administration be truly "cut to the marrow" before another of your child's instructional dollars is cut.

C.) You can initiate a course of action that was successfully undertaken in Van Buren Township and in Wayne/Westland. This action would only be necessary if option "B" was viewed as inappropriate by our board.

Maybe they'll listen. As a teacher in our district, I will continue to give our children the best education possible in these difficult times. Your attention to these matters would only be in the best interest of our children.

Unity in Van Buren

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

The "Great Debate" took place in Van Buren Township Friday night.

And those of us expecting to see mushroom clouds exploding over a township that has been torn apart by recall came away seeing the dove, the eternal figure of peace.

Despite their completely opposite political philosophies, Democrats and Republicans here have agreed to smoke the proverbial peace pipe. They are committed, they publicly agreed — a rare and unique thing in this township — that whoever, whichever Party wins, unless there is malfeasance of office, no recall will be initiated by the losing side.

The standing-room-only crowd of concerned citizens echoed the feelings of a township that hopes to rise above the selfish realm of politics and begin building for the future.

It is rare, indeed, to see a group of politicians — and that isn't a dirty word as some may think — vow "to work together no matter which candidate or party wins."

Obviously, only time will tell.

And who do I see winning that race in Van Buren? (Remember, dear readers, this column is being pounded out Tuesday afternoon, long before the final results are in.)

If the Republicans had put up a consensus candidate and not had to face Democrat George Craven on two fronts, I would have to go with Gerald McKelvey for supervisor. McKelvey, however, will find some of his voters in the independent candidate's. (George Roberts') column, therefore, he will fall short of reaching his goal.

George Craven is the next supervisor of Van Buren Township.

Also, although Edward D'Angelo has the education and the vigor, his inexperience in campaigning only helped his Republican counterpart — Delphine Rudick will become this township's full-time clerk.

And Donna Hall, well-known in this township for her work in obtaining grants and community affairs, should dispose of Mark Rairick. Mrs. Hall will capture the treasurer's post.

Also pick Marilyn Montgomery, Thurston Jahr and George A. Heifner, Jr. to fill the trustee posts on Nov. 20 when the newly elected officials take office.

But, as I said, only time will tell.

Is it no wonder that we sometimes question the great wisdom of the men and women who are selected to our township boards and city councils? Some are apparently obsessed by keeping their citizens mired in confusion.

For example, two weeks ago the Romulus City Council, upon a request from a citizen who urged that since Halloween fell on a Sunday — the day before a school day — council should change "Treat-or-Treating" night to Saturday.

The petitioner also offered religious reasons for the needed switch. It would be improper for her children to be out on the streets Sunday night, she felt.

Of course Council was willing to go along with the citizen. After all, there was some merit to what she had to say. So, council voted to "change" Halloween from Sunday to Saturday. Council would allow the kids trick-or-treating Saturday night, and they informed the city administration to inform the police department and the schools of their decision.

Well and good.

But, then Tuesday night the same council had a couple of irate citizens show up who read of that unorthodox Council decision. This group of citizens were armed with petitions signed by 350 residents who urged council to rescind the earlier decision.

You guessed it. They did.

Why Wayne's band marched informal

EDITOR — This is a reply to the letter from Ms. Jill R. Bergman which appeared in the October 21 issue of the Associated Newspapers.

Ms. Bergman expressed some disappointment and said she missed seeing the WMHS marching band in formal uniform in the Wayne Fall Festival parade on September 9. We thought Ms. Bergman and others who watched the parade might be interested to know why WMHS marching band students chose to wear the blue and white shirts and shorts on that day.

Students had just completed a week at marching band camp. It was a week in which hard work and cooperation brought incoming sophomores and junior-senior band members together into one proud, enthusiastic band. During band camp we wore the uniforms you saw in the parade. Each band member purchased his own. They represented hard work, personal investment, and the team spirit of WMHS.

We understand why you missed our formal uniforms, Ms. Bergman. Just as you do, we think those uniforms add a measure of dignity to an already-dignified group. However, because of the high temperatures predicted for September 9, because we had a two-hour practice immediately following the parade, because our high step marching style turns a parade into a mile-long workout, because our formal uniforms had just recently been cleaned, and because our summer camp uniforms had special meaning for us, we chose to wear the summer uniforms.

Thank you for your concern and interest, Ms. Bergman. Right now our Band and Orchestra Boosters are offering you and all people within a 15-mile radius of WMHS a chance to win a personal COMMAND PERFORMANCE drawing may have one of ching band, symphony orchestra, string ensemble, or jazz band.

The four winning ticketholders of our COMMAND PERFORMANCE drawing may have one of these groups play at their command for 15 minutes at a mutually acceptable site. Ticket donation is just $1. Drawing will take place at our Christmas Concert on December 15 in the Norman O. Stockmyer Performing Arts Center at WMHS.

Romulus schools are applauded

EDITOR — We thought the local newspaper would be interested in the following letter addressed to Dr. William Bedell, Superintendent of Romulus Community Schools.

Dear Dr. Bedell:
It's the squeaky wheel that gets the oil, and it's human nature only to speak up when things go wrong — except for this time. I am writing this letter to tell you about something wonderful.

The something wonderful is your staff. Over the course of a year, I have had the pleasure of working with several Romulus Community Schools' employees in arranging programs for our residents at Oakbrook Villa Townhouses.

In coordinating our GED high school completion class, I have found that Mr. William Smith and Mr. Earl Cornett — as well as the rest of the adult education staff — are always concerned with our tenants needs. In the past two years, I have found these two gentlemen to be courteous and accommodating; relating well to people of all ages, backgrounds, and ability levels.

At Romulus High School (in coordinating the Summer Youth Employment Program), Mr. Tom Baldwin was always right on top of things. My staff, our SYEP workers, and I were all very impressed with the improved employment workshops and resources available to the youth employees this year. Even though we're all moving at a break-neck pace through the long, hot summer, Mr. Baldwin never lost his cool. He deserves a big pat on the back for being responsive and responsible for such a demanding and trying program. I found all of the people in his office to be as courteous and just as concerned as Mr. Baldwin. Mr. Brock and Mrs. Garrett were very helpful as well.

Pulling rabbits out of a hat on a regular basis seems to be Mary Moody's forte. This saintly woman saved the day for Oakbrook's summer program more times than I care to admit. This unflappable woman is the epitome of flexibility. Many times we called Mrs. Moody to request last minute changes that, quite frankly, I would have turned down if I had been in her shoes.

But since the word "impossible" is not in her vocabulary, she did not once turn down one of our requests. This amazing woman is cheerful at 6 o'clock in the morning! Also, both "Shirley's" in her office were just as cordial and as cooperative as Mrs. Moody. I would like to mention that all of the bus drivers that we were assigned were patient (not to mention long-suffering), friendly, punctual, and every bit as concerned about the success of our field trip days as we were.

Last, but not least, I would like to thank you and your wonderful office staff for making it possible to use the Romulus school buses for summer transportation. If we had used a private charter service, we would have had to spend another $1,000 for transportation.

I am very grateful for the experience of working with such a marvelous group of exceptional professionals. The residents of Oakbrook and I look forward to working with the Romulus Community Schools in a continuing effort to make our community a better place to live.

Grigg isn't dear to deer hunters

EDIOTR — I think Mona Grigg is attempting to follow that very much misinformed columnist Cleveland Amory and his bleeding heart outfit, "The Fund for Amory."

Sorry I can't buy what she's writing.

She had one thing correct in her recent column about hunting: "It's not an even match between man and the deer" or else there wouldn't be any deer left if 750,000 hunters for a deer every year.

Hopefully, we will have a dove season here in the near future, and that the new township board will allow duck hunting in the lake again.

Firefighter to the rescue

EDITOR — Recently my family went to Willow Park for the day. On our way home, my sisters daughter started to choke, so we pulled over. In the meantime, she caught her breath and I went in the trunk to get her something to drink.

In the rush, I managed to lock my keys in there. It was late, and I didn't have another set so we went up to the door, to use the phone.

The man, whom we later found out was Chuck Johnson, a volunteer fire fighter, came to our rescue. He pulled the whole entire back seat out and managed to get the keys. In the meantime, his daughter kept our three very crabby kids entertained!

We had called my father to get an extra set of keys before he got the seat out, and was already on his way back out. Mr. Johnson worked so hard and long and then kept us company. He restored my confidence in people and I realized there still are good people in the world. Then on top of it, he was taking his family out for dinner and they missed that so he could help us!

Thank you so much, Mr. Johnson, you'll never know how much we appreciated it!

Cheese causes a 'big stink'

EDITOR — Just thought I would say a little something concerning the cheese the senior citizens received.

I think it is a shame city officials don't trust us, the senior citizens. I don't see where it is any of anyone's business how much money the senior citizens get from Social Security. We get enough to barely see us thru the month.

As far as their residence, I can understand that.

I'll bet them and their families got their cheese and lots of it. I am very angry for myself and many, many more seniors who did not get their cheese.

A FRUSTRATED OLD LADY

A victory in Sumpter

EDITOR — We would like to take this opportunity to give some appreciation to the people who were actually involved in accomplishing the denial of the Hazardous Waste Permit that was to be in Sumpter Township.

First of all if our Supervisor, James M. Reeves, did not feel the way that he did and set the standards that he has all along for our township we the residents of Sumpter Township might have given up long ago. But instead he stuck out his neck on many occasions and the majority of the residents stood behind him and it was finally a worth while cause. Mr. Reeves was the main contributor.

There are a number of people who need to be thanked such as; the attorney Mr. Ronald Witthoff, the Engineer George Wilhelmi, the consulting firm that did the research that was needed Geotechnical Material & Consultants, the Planning Commission and its members, Chairman Mr. Peter Kirschner, Secretary Carol Caudill, Liaison to the Board Mr. Floyd Bevins, members Dan Welch, Ezra Wyche, Danny Hayes, and Bob Beattie and the township Board members that stuck it out with us and that attended the majority of the meetings and especially the Site Approval Board Members who were residents of Sumpter Township Mr. Walter Chabot, Mr. William Harness, and Mr. Virgil Humphreys.

We feel that the protestors that stood outside the townhall the day and night of the final meeting — not afraid to voice their opinion and feelings — need to be praised for their time and efforts. The organizers of the protestors were Carol Caudill and Loretta Radisovich residents of the township. Some few residents of the township that cared about the community as a whole. There are approximately 11,120 residents in Sumpter Township and only 127 residents attended the meeting and 36 protested outside the townhall for the whole community. Something that was close to the hearts of all of us was 4 year old, Jessie Huff who wore a sign saying "I WANT TO GROW WITH SUMPTER".

And last but not least we can not forget those who took out the time to write the letters to the Site Approval Board such as Loretta Radisovich and Betty Ostrowski (residents of the township), Mr. William Chizmar principal of Elwell School, Dr. Elvin Peets Superintendent of Van Buren Schools and Police Chief Doctor of the Belleville Police Department. Thanks also to Dr. Glauco H. Bechara for all his support.

Again thank you the site approval board and supervisor Reeves.

Sumpter Township as small as it is has accomplished a great task and now is known to alot of people.

November

*November brings the bite of frost
And leaves each tree so bare and lost.*

*The misty haze from cold of night
Paint rooftops white in morning light.*

*The squirrels' nuts are quickly stored
Like riches in a miser's hoard.*

*Precious little time is left
That preparation lends
To gather in the fire-wood
As autumn nearly ends.*

*Gray clouds gather closer,
'Tis the wind that makes them go.
Any new born day could bring
The first of winter's snow.*

*We can rest in comfort
In our homes of warmth and wealth,
Our pantries filled with plenty
As a tribute to our health.*

*Our hearts in satisfaction lie,
That makes our lives worth living.
It seems not fair the world can't share
The joy of our thanksgiving.*

reflections

Lost art of conversation

When the kids all come home and are sitting around the dining room table, after having eaten for almost two hours, someone is bound to suggest that we go in and watch television. I always say no and suggest we do something else like talking with each other, but this quickly gets hushed up.

"What's there to say?" someone will ask and when I suggest we talk about the governor's race, or maybe the presidential race that isn't too far in the future, my kids will declare they aren't going to vote because there isn't anyone they want to vote for.

I don't get too worried, because this is what I have heard people say ever since the first election in which I voted, forty odd years ago. I know they will vote. And they know I know they will vote.

"Well," I'll say, "why don't we play bridge?" This doesn't set too well, probably because all of our kids were born AT (after TV) and no one has ever learned how to play.

"I love to play scrabble," I say, but they nix that game immediately, probably because they were all educated during the Dick and Jane period when schools thought that teaching a kid to spell was mid-Victorian.

That leaves Dominoes but everyone gets into a big argument because no one knows that Dominoes was for something besides building playhouses with.

So we just decide to sit there and talk... about old times and when they were little kids, and stuff like that. That's how I find out why one vent never gave out any heat, and what happened to my first wig and other things that had disappeared through the years. The kids had a hiding place for all of their filched stuff, the heating vent in their bedroom.

This causes a lot of laughter, and then the kids begin telling things on each other, and I suppose they figure enough time has lapsed that they can't be convicted for their crimes. And besides they are all bigger than their father and me.

It is during this reminiscence that one kid tells how the other kid had swiped some stuff from a store one time. No one wants to be considered puritanical, so they all jump in, remembering how it was to snatch a little, get caught, and all that. That is when our angle-child speaks up; she, with the big blue eyes and the innocent chin.

A 'joyous' funeral

Last week I made a quick trip up to my beloved Copper Country to say a last "Goodbye" to an even more beloved uncle.

You may remember this particular uncle. I wrote about him in a column last year where I talked about chutzpah, sisu, and the power of positive thinking.

I used a story about him as an example of Finnish "sisu" (guts, grit, determination). He had been in UCLA Medical Center a few years ago, dying, the doctors said, of Leukemia. On the morning after the night he hadn't been expected to live through, my aunt called to see what his condition was. She did it with much apprehension, and with many false starts, wanting to prolong having to hear the bad news.

When she finally did call, the word was that not only had he rallied, he was causing a real rucus with his demands to let him out of there. On wings of wonder and joy, she hurried to take him home.

The reprieve lasted for three more years — until last week, when he died shoveling the first of winter's snow out of his upper peninsula driveway. His last moments couldn't have been more fitting if he had hand-picked them himself. He was strong and relatively healthy, and he was doing what he loved best: He was battling the elements in the rugged country he had finally, after 30 years away, come home to.

If there is such a thing as a joyous funeral, his was it. It was a most remarkable event in honor of a most remarkable man.

There are those special people in this world whose selflessness ad "joie de vivre" touches everyone around them. My uncle was one of those people. Even people who could not love easily, loved him.

And so, when plans to commemorate his death were being made, they couldn't help but evolve into a natural, joyous celebration of life. We could — and did — mourn the void his passing would leave. But we couldn't mourn his death.

The brush with death at UCLA wasn't the first, you see. He had had many more before that. He had spent the 30 years away from the Copper Country trying to ease the pain and disfigurement of crippling arthritis. On his doctor's advice, he moved his family west to Arizona, where the dry heat was more beneficial.

It didn't cure the disease entirely, however, and he spent years getting cortisone treatments and being a human guinea pig for whatever new wonder medication came along — including bee-sting therapy.

The arthritis, miraculously, "burned itself out" after my uncle developed a mysterious fever where his temperature reached as high as 106 degrees.

The effects of the disease remained: the gnarled, twisted fingers, the exaggerated joints — but he looked on them as symbols of a battle won. Tangible evidence that spirit and will can dominate.

The disease — and the medication — took its toll, and every now and then some malignancy

"I remember," she says, "when I stole some stuff and brought it home and hid it for days for fear someone would find it..."

Naturally this shocks me. To hear that boys snitch things from stores doesn't shake up a mother's equilibrium as much as to hear her daughters confess to such dastardly doings.

So I give her a lecture, on ethics and honesty, and I get pretty eloquent when she breaks in with, "Oh, mother, I was ethical and honest. I hid that stuff for several days. And then I returned it... for the money!"

deep inside would flare up and try to take him. It never worked.

So the miracle was that when death finally did overtake him, it was in an instant, without lingering pain, with dignity intact.

At graveside, where we gathered for one final goodbye, we stood amid sea grasses and ancient pines and marveled at the beauty of the day: the warmth of the breezes — only days after the season's first big snowstorm — the incredible blue sky, the sea-scent of nearby Lake Superior... and I thought to myself, as we buried my uncle in that unique wilderness cemetery only a few miles from the town where he was born: Wasn't it just like this loving, gentle man to make sure the day was perfect for us?

Cantonese Village

Chinese cuisine, exotic cocktails highlight Westland eatery

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Feature Editor

Diners at Cantonese Village in Westland are offered Chinese and American dishes, exotic cocktails and even some words of wisdom from Confucius.

Located at 7107 Wayne Road near Warren, this establishment has been serving Western Wayne County for some 14 years and its repeat business is a testimony to success. With a diversified menu of poultry, beef, pork and seafood-based Chinese delicacies as well as various American dishes, the real burden rests with the chef. And at the Cantonese Village the main chef is the owner, Wing Lok.

"When the chef is the owner, you know that everything that comes out of the kitchen is good," remarked David Eng, the res-taurant's new manager (Lok became owner two years ago). "There's a lot of preparation work that goes into a Chinese menu... 10 or 11 hours a day.

"We feature Southern Chinese cooking as opposed to the Mandarin style that has more seasoning and spices added."

Luncheon specials, served from 11:30 a.m. till 3:30 p.m., range in price from $2.75 to $3.25 (New York strip steak, 1/2 pound). Combination plates with egg roll and fried rice include shrimp egg foo young, almond chicken, chicken chop suey, beef chow mein, pepper steak, sweet and sour pork and Chinese fried shrimp.

Among the American selection at lunch are chop sirlon, breaded veal cutlet, pork chops, broiled white fish, breaded frog legs and shrimp salad. Soup or tomato juice, roll, tea or coffee complete the meal.

The dinner choices are seemingly endless, providing the diner with a look at nearly every Chinese delicacy imaginable.

One of the favorites, Eng noted, is the Peking Chicken ($7.50), white chicken breast that is marinated, broiled and served on a mound of Chinese vegetables. A sampling at the more than 50 Chinese entrees available also shows almond chicken ($6.75) pressed duck ($7), steak kow ($7.50), pepper steak ($6.50), Chinese fried shrimp ($7.15), Cantonese chow mein ($6.50), sweet and sour pork ($6.50) and barbecue spare ribs ($7) prepared in the Cantonese style.

Dinners include egg drop soup or tomato juice, egg roll, tea or coffee, rolls and dessert.

Most eye-catching of the various combination plates is the Cantonese

Village Special Plate ($8.75) which consists of an egg roll, Peking duck, barbecue ribs, fried shrimp, fried boneless chicken, fried rice and mushrooms.

"Chinese meals are not only nutritious, they're also low in calories," declared Eng, whose restaurant background includes work in Florida, Massachusetts and New York.

For the American-style taste, a variety of steaks and chops, seafood, salads and sandwiches fit the bill.

As for the exotic cocktails, one can select from such concoctions as the Scorpion, Pineapple Passion, Love Potion, Coconut Cooler, Thunder and Lightning and the Zombie. The Cantonese Special features an original blend of rum, liqueurs, fruits and a special ingredient ($4.20) and the customer's able to take the mug home.

The cocktails, beer and wine offerings come with the recommendations of a noted philosopher. As the menu quotes, "Confucius says: A dinner without wine is like an evening with out stars, therefore eat with drink and drink with food."

Cantonese Village is open from 11:30 a.m. till 11 p.m. Monday thru Thursday; from 11:30 a.m. to 2 a.m. Friday and Saturday, and from noon to 10 p.m. Sunday. Carryout service is available by calling 729-1470.

Even Confucius would be comfortable in this spacious restaurant that has a seating capacity of 160 with a banquet room available.

"I'm just getting to know the customers," Eng explained. "But already I've had a number of people tell me they've been coming here for 10 years or more."

Try these tips

By BOB SAWITSKI
Special to Playtime

If you're like me, it seems as if you have less and less time to spend streamside casting for steelhead and salmon. And since our angling time is limited, we want to hook and land as many fish as possible with the least amount of effort. But all too often we lose them and have to be content with telling tales of "the one that got away."

Here are a few tips that may help bring more salmon to your net:

- 1 — BESURE HOOKS ARE NEEDLE SHARP. This is a basic rule in fishing regardless of the species you're after. When salmon enter their spawning period their jaws harden more than normal and it takes a sharp hook to penetrate the bone.
- 2 — USE LINE THAT'S HEAVY ENOUGH. Salmon are notorious for falling on the line after dazzling an angler with their aerial acrobatics, thereby making good an escape. Your line must be heavy enough to be able to withstand this punishment without breaking.

Also keep in mind that cohos and chinooks are capable of making long runs after becoming hooked. And if you're fishing fast water, your problems are compounded. The fish has the edge. Salmon aren't quite as finicky and spooky as spawning steelhead, so heavy line doesn't frighten them.

I'd suggest using at least 12-pound test monofilament because there's always a chance of sinking your barbs into a real tackle-buster.

Perhaps you've read the results of recent tests that proved blue-green colored fishing line caught more fish than any other color. I've found this to be true, for the most part — except in salmon fishing. For this, fluorescent yellow line seems to work best. It's possible that the lines serves as an attractor.

3 — Have a good assortment of salmon lures in a vast array of colors. I'll never forget the time a few

Canton honors football victors

The Fourth Annual Canton Parks and Recreation Department's Punt, Pass and Kick competition saw eight new records set under ideal weather conditions as nearly 80 youngsters ages eight to 13 tested their football skills in three age divisions.

In the eight and nine year-old age group, Randy Wittiker took top honors with a total of 180 points. In the process, he set a new record in punting with a 65'4" effort, eclipsing the old record of 65' even set by Craig Borowski (1980). Second place went to Chip Wadowski with a total of 139 points and third was Mike Winger with 133 points.

In the 10-11 age group, Craig Borowski went wild setting new age group records in punting, passing and total points. His total of 267 points erased the record of 221 by Chad Curtis (1980). His punt of 95'5" beat the old record of 80' by Dan Nashlong (1980) and his pass of 90'3" beat the record of 83'7" by Tony Boucher (1980).

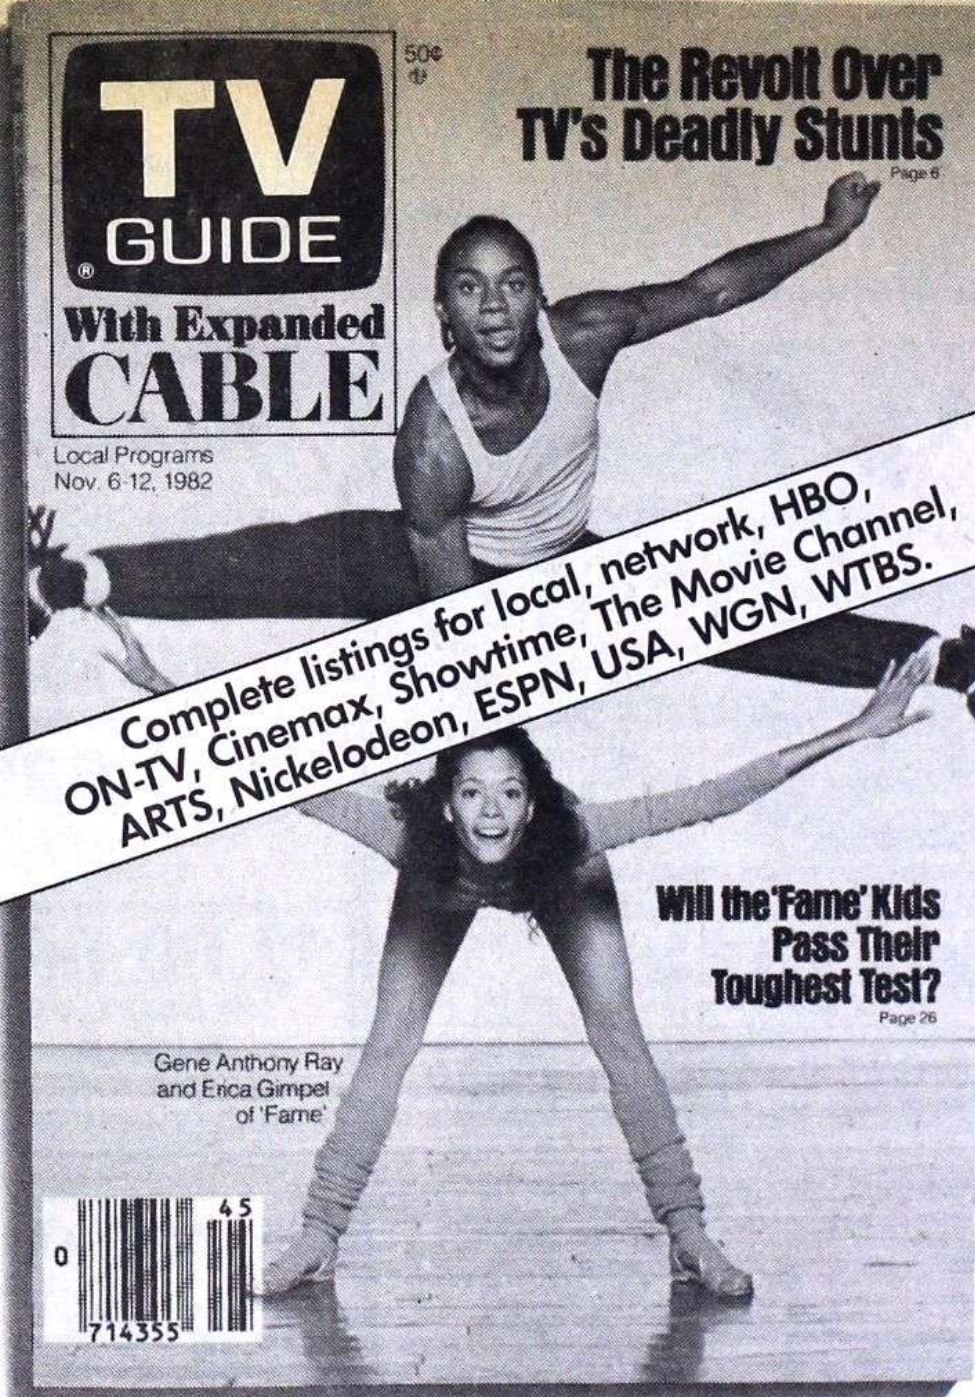

Second place went to Mike Kregcar with 198 points and third was Joel Michaelson with 195 points.

In the 12-13 year age group, it was another one-man record performance as Steve Genyk took top honors with a new record of 324 points. This beat the old record of 276 points by Dave Zdeb (1981).

In the process, Steve set new records in passing with a record throw of 121'1," beating the old mark of

Livonia symphony to begin season

A wide variety of musical compositions will be featured in the 25th Anniversary season of the Livonia Youth Symphony Society.

Selections for the concert schedule will include Canon in D by Pachelbel, Rhapsody in Blue by Gershwin, Beethoven's Symphony Number 1, Mozart's Symphony Number 38 and 40, and Symphony Number 2 by Sibelius.

The first concert will be on Saturday Nov. 6 at 7 p.m. at Churchill High School, 8900 Newburgh Road, Livonia. Featured will be a Mass performance of Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, with the 100-member Symphony Orchestra and strings from all of the LYSS orchestras playing the first and second violin solos.

The Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Donald Lewsader, also is scheduled to perform Beethoven's Symphony Number 7, The Moldau by Smetana, and Les Pre-ludes by Liszt.

Harvey Felder, conductor of the Concert Orchestra, has programmed Variations on a Shaker Melody from Copland's Appalachian Spring, the first movement of Beethoven's First Symphony and The Great Gate of Kiev by Musorgsky.

Janita Hauk will conduct the String Orchestra in Hornpipe by Frost, Allegro by Fiocco and Handel's Little Fugue.

Tickets are available at the door the night of the performance. Admission for this concert is $4 for adults, $3 for students and senior citizens. Season tickets are available at a 20 percent savings — $16 for adults and $12 for students and senior citizens. For further information call 349-3432.

Other concert dates for this season will be Jan. 22, and March 20 at Orchestra Hall and May 14 at Churchill High School.

Salmon tips years ago on the Huron River. It was late fall and the banks were crowded with salmon anglers. But, believe it or not, I was the only one catching fish! I don't think I was doing anything drastically different than anyone else — but I was using a clown-colored Tadpole. That lure, or at least that color, was scarce on the river that day. Other anglers were offering me top dollar for it.

I don't remember the exact number of fish I caught and released that day, but I know they numbered at least 20 or so. The biggest was a 12-pound chinook.

"Charley's Aunt" is the opening performance of the Wayne State University Studio Theatre season, running through Nov. 7 at the Wayne State Theatre, located at Cass and Hancock in Detroit. In one scene from the play, Charley (Robert Lambert) grimaces while Lord Babberley (Marc Ciokajlo), masquerading as Charley's aunt, acquaints himself with Amy (Kyle Baker), Charley's sweetheart. Wayne band will perform for lucky ticket holders

The Wayne Memorial High School Instrumental Music Department offers people in Wayne, Westland and surrounding communities the chance of a lifetime — A Command Performance.

Each of four winning ticket holders of the WMHS Command Performance Drawing may have one of the fine WMHS musical aggregations play at his or her command for 15 minutes at a mutually acceptable site within 15 miles of Wayne Memorial High School on a date before May 31, 1983.

The lucky ticket holders may win a performance by a 104-member marching band, or a full symphony orchestra, or a chamber ensemble, or a 17-member jazz band. Winners may select the program for their Command Performance from the WMHS Band and Orchestra music library and from the following special occasion selections — Happy Birthday, Happy Anniversary, Pomp and Circumstance, Fame, Celebration, military service marches, Christmas songs, children's songs, college fight songs, and even the John Glenn Fight Song, if requested.

The possibilities are limitless! One could serenade a girlfriend with a full orchestra, entertain dinner guests with a string ensemble, congratulate a friend with a marching band, or have a jazz band play Mom and Dad's favorites. Whatever the occasion — birthday, wedding, engagement, thank you, anniversary, spirit raiser, retail store sale, tribute to a friend, barbecue, get well, end-of-school party, or just a personal concert — WMHS will give a Command Performance for the winning ticket holders and their friends.

Tickets are available Oct. 22 through Dec. 15 from all WMHS Band and Orchestra students and Boosters. Ticket donation is $1. Drawing will take place during the WMHS Christmas Concert on Dec. 15 at 7:30 p.m. in the Norman O. Stockmyer Performing Arts Center at WMHS.

"I Need More — The Stooges and other Stories"
by Iggy Pop with Anne Wehrer
$9.95, from Karz-Cohl Publishing

No one but the inimitable Iggy Pop himself could possibly tell this story; no outside biographer could even begin to wallow in the depths of Iggy's all-too real world of sex, drugs, and of course, rock and roll.

Ann Arbor's favorite son is not your typical rock star — never was, and never will be. He is, instead, an originator. It's not by coincidence that he's been called the godfather of punk. Long before there was a Sid Vicious, there was Iggy Pop, pulling out all the stops by doing a belly-smacker into broken glass on the stage of Max's Kansas City. Why? To get the audience involved; to make them react.

And, as anyone who has seen Iggy in concert will attest to, they're still reacting. Pathetic crowds pay ten, twelve dollars apiece not to praise the Ig, but to bury him. I've seen him pelted with light bulbs, metal locks, even 35mm cameras. He doesn't like it, but as he told a crowd at the Michigan Palace once "You can throw anything you want to honey, 'cause you paid ten dollars, and I'm makin' ten thousand."

"I Need More" is a gem of a book, written in cooperation with Anne Wehrer, an old Ann Arbor friend and New York scenemaker. It's written in a very casual, very readable style which translates perfectly the persona, as opposed to the expected image, of Iggy Pop.

Each picture may not be worth a thousand words, but without a doubt, some of them, like Iggy's (nee Jim Osterberg) high school graduation photo, are worth at least a thousand laughs. And yes, Virginia, one of the famous shots of Iggy, uh, defrocked, as it were, is included.

There's also lot's of song lyrics here, from "1969" to "Raw Power" to "I Need More," where the Pop states "I need to lead a dissipated existence/ And play my scratchy records/ And enjoy my decline."

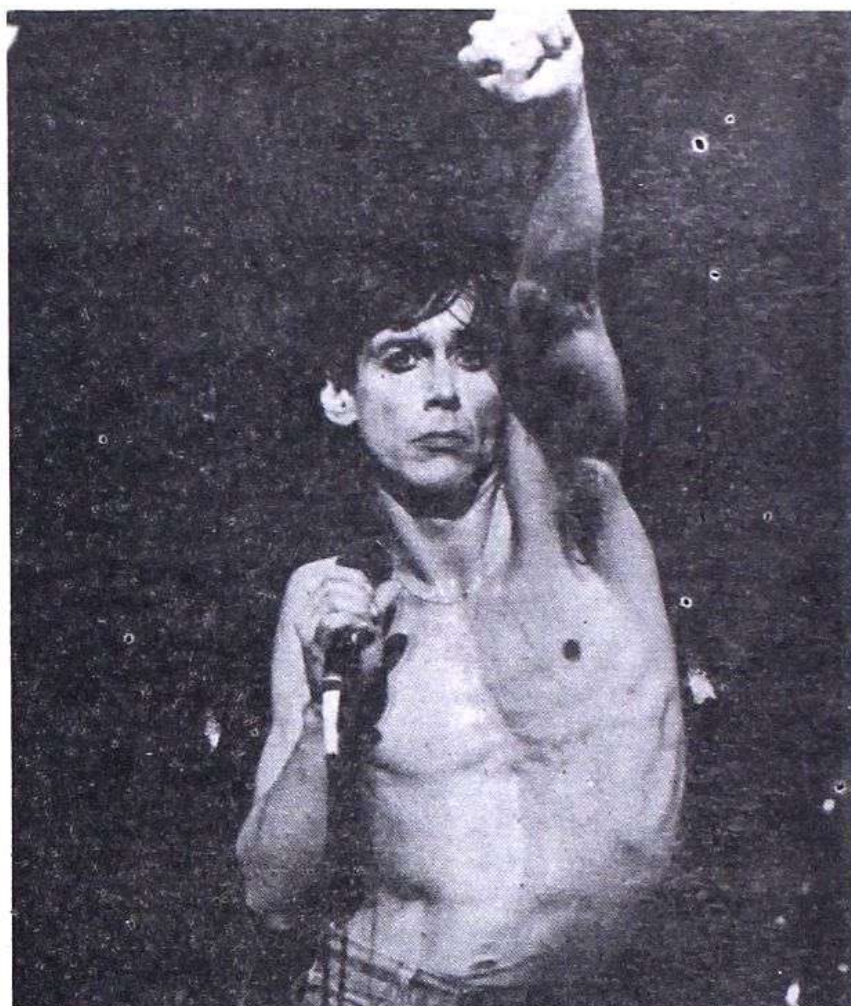

Looking down the contents

Iggy Pop in concert is a unique experience to say the least.

page, one is confronted by chapters (sort of) titled, among others, "Goose Lake," "Drugged In The City," "First Encore," "First Downer," and "The Dairy Queen and the Decline." Unlike most rock biographies, this one never gets even the least bit boring, and it's chocked full of enough photos to satisfy even the hard-core 'Iggyophile. Highly recommended.

'The last hurrahs'

Upsets rock area's undefeated prep grid teams

One more game and the 1982 high school football season will be history for most of the area prep teams. Last week, all of the undefeated area teams were rocked by upsets. They must win this Friday or their hopes for a post-season state play-off berth will be shattered. Livonia Franklin saw its 10-game (over a two-year period) winning streak come to an abrupt end at the hands of rival, Fordson; Plymouth Salem's playoff express was badly detoured and damaged by Farmington Harrison and Monroe was an upset victim at Wyandotte, while the No. 1 ranked team in the state, Edsel Ford, slipped at Trenton. And while the previously unbeaten clubs attempt to recover their poise and posture, Wayne Memorial is preparing to meet natural rivals, Westland John Glenn, in its annual Fall Grid Classic. The Classic will bring out more than 5,000 fans Friday night at John Glenn.

"Glenn doesn't make too many mistakes," said Wayne's Floyd Carter. "They are a sound, well coached and trained football team. One of their strongest points is defense but you also can't discount their fullback who runs well inside." Carter also stressed that his team is ready. Wayne shut out Taylor Truman 20-0 in their Great Lakes 8 Conference finals, while Westland John Glenn was surprised by Highland Park, the reigning Suburban

Athletic Conference tri-champs, last week. "We have played some pretty good teams this year like Edsel Ford and Monroe and we feel that Glenn is in that caliber," Carter said. "Friday night's ball game will be an excellent one not only because of the natural rivalry, but because the two teams will be giving all they've got to win it." Wayne struck for two touchdowns in the first quarter and picked up its third tally in the second en route to the 20-0 victory over Truman. The victory gave the Zebras a 3-4 league mark; they're over-all 3-5 on the season. An Eric Schultz interception of a misguided Truman pass, advanced from the Taylor 45 to the 20-yard line, set up Wayne's initial touchdown. It took quarterback Mike Quartuccio four plays to get to the Taylor 2-yard line where he went over on the fifth play with 8:04 left in the period. Dennis Korzetki's boot for the extra point made it a 7-0 game. Less than six minutes later, Wayne was on the scoreboard again. This time Shaun Boyer, who had 117 yards rushing on 16 carries, crashed into the Taylor end zone, going in from the one. Boyer's TD came after a blocked punt attributed to Don Lynn's quickness and alertness, Wayne took over at the 20, and in six plays Quartuccio again directed the Zeb-

This was a 'rebuilding year?'

It was supposed to be a "rebuilding year" for Coach Dave Medley and his Belleville harriers, but the young and talented team just wouldn't buy it, so they went out and piled up a 7-2 won-lost season which included two invitational championships. Members and supporters of the team include Betty Richendollar (from left, kneeling), Dawn Middlebrooks, Barry Compau, Bob

Thomas earns Adrian honor

Senior split end Jim Thomas of Romulus earned Adrian College offensive back-of-the-week honors in the Bulldogs' 24-7 victory over Albion Oct. 23. Thomas hauled in four passes covering 90 yards, including a 43-yard reception in the opening quarter. The early catch set up Adrian's first touchdown and the Bulldogs never trailed. The 5-foot-10, 155-pound Southgate Aquinas graduate also completed 70 percent of his blocking assignments as Adrian captured its sixth victory in seven outings this fall. "Jim has done an excellent job throughout the season on our pass patterns and blocking schemes," said Adrian head coach Ron Labadie. Thomas has caught 13 passes for 272 yards and three touchdowns to rank second among Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association (MIAA) receivers. The Bulldog offense has averaged 32.3 points and 376 yards total offense in 1982. The Bulldogs have built a strong football program around young student-athletes like Thomas. Since 1979, Adrian has compiled 29-4-1 overall and 14-3-1 MIAA records. Adrian travels to Hope College (6-1) Saturday (Oct. 30) in the annual showdown involving the MIAA championship. The title clash kicks-off at 1:30 p.m. at Holland Municipal Stadium. Jim, a health, physical education and recreation major, is the son of Robert and Virginia Thomas of Romulus.

Northville wins WW swim title

A record setting performance by Westland John Glenn's girls' 400-yard freestyle relay team lifted the Westlanders into an over-all second place at the 1982 Western Wayne Swimming & Diving Championships staged over the weekend at John Glenn. Coach Debbie Sanders chose to go with premier swimmers Chris Johnston, Chris Cabrera, Shelly Pilarski and Robin Gow in the final event of the nine team invitational. The foursome responded with the winning time of 4:05.10, establishing a new school record. However, that was only one of three gold medals the Westlanders garnered during the two-days of competition. Northville, unbeaten this year in league competition, captured the team championship with a total of 289 points. The champs also dominated the individual events as they took four golds including the opening 200-yard medley relay. Westland also earned the gold medal in the 100-yard freestyle and the 100-yard backstroke. In a close race, Shelly Pilarski beat Northville's Doris Felicelli to the wire in the 100-yard freestyle. Pilarski's winning time was posted as 1:00.30. Miss Gow had an easier time in winning the 100-yard backstroke. She coasted in at 1:07.59. "We had competed in four meets in five days," pointed out Coach Sanders, "and our kids may have been a bit tired. However, I feel we swam very well. And I am elated that our girls had an opportunity to swim against such an outstanding team as Northville." Wayne Memorial, which finished fourth in the field of nine teams, had the best diver at the invitational in Mary Jane Little who was awarded the gold medal for her 339.40 point total. Five points back was River-view's Jane Thompson.

Belleville qualifies 2 harriers for state cross country finals

It was supposed to be a "rebuilding year" for Coach Dave Medley and the Belleville Tigers. However, the Belleville cross country strategist was pleasantly surprised at how the year turned out. The Tigers won seven of their nine dual meets and also captured two invitational championships, winning the Wayne and New Boston Huron titles. "Although it was a rebuilding year for us," Medley said, "we were much more successful than I thought we would be. Our only losses were in the league — to Edsel Ford and Dearborn — and I have to attribute some of our setbacks to untimely injuries and a bad break." Medley felt that if his team has been placed in the Class A Regional at Northville, where Belleville traditionally ran, the Tigers may have qualified teamwise. Instead, the Tigers competed in the largest regional (Lansing) in the state and finished seventh in the field with 211 points. Milford, ranked 10, won the regional crown. Belleville did qualify two of its team members for Saturday's state finals. Senior John Fisher finished eighth in 16:16 and teammate Dave Ciacerella, a junior, crossed the finish line 13th. (The top three teams in each of the regionals plus the next 10 individuals advance to the state meet). Belleville's other point-getters were Mike McManus, who ran 33rd

(16:55), Dale McGee, 77th (17:38) and Alan Eggers, 80th (17:42). The state meet will be conducted on Saturday on Flint Kearsley's home site, Brookwood Golf Course. Despite Belleville's 1-2 finish at the final Suburban 8 Conference championships last Tuesday, the Tigers were forced to settle for an over-all third place finish. Edsel Ford, the defending champ, garnered 41 points and retained the title, while Dearborn was runner-up with 49 and Belleville was third with 54. Trenton finished in the cellar. Fisher turned in a 16:18 to capture top honors at the league while running mate Ciacerella was clocked in the second best time of 16:25. McManus was forced to take himself out of the meet after hyperventilating. "Mike was right up with the leaders and appeared to be doing well when he was forced to the sidelines," Medley explained. "If he had finished, we could have done much better. Also, I just can't understand why our team was sent to Lansing when we were usually placed in the meet at Northville. "I believe someone at the state doesn't know where Belleville is located," Medley added.

Franklin's playoff hopes ride on beating Bentley

SAM VILLA

Belleville's Villa nets EMU honor

The Eastern Michigan University football coaching staff made their weekly awards after a 16-7 loss to Bell State last weekend (Oct. 30) and Chris Babini and Derrick Whitehead won the top awards. Babini, a 6-foot-3, 245 pound junior, was named "Offensive Huron of the Week" for his outstanding play at offensive center. Babini, a co-captain on this year's team, is from St. Clair Shores-Lake Shore High School. The prep team players for the Ball State game were Belleville's Sam Villa on offense and defense, Matt Finlay. Villa is a 6-foot-2, 175-pound freshman quarterback from Belleville while Finlay is a 6-foot-1½, 210-pound freshman from Mississauga, Ontario-Lorne Park High School. Prep team players are singled out for their execution of the opponent's offense and defense during the week of practice prior to the game.

One big play from scrimmage may have shattered previously unbeaten Livonia Franklin's post-season playoff dreams, 7-3. Fordson's Kevin Harris bolted up-the-heart of Franklin's defense and raced 75-yards for a touchdown early in the first quarter and that eventually stood up for a Tractor victory. The defeat was the first for Coach Armand Vigna and his Patriots. It was the first setback for the Livonians who brought an untarnished 7-0 record into Saturday afternoon's showdown in Henry Ford country. The Pats has amassed a 10-game win streak before Charles Jestic's one-defeated gridders tore it to shreds. "We won the battles," Coach Vigna pointed out. "but Fordson won the war." Franklin came back after the initial — and only — Fordson touchdown and marched 64 yards but was forced to settle for a field goal when the drive stalled. Vigna called on Rich Wood who successfully booted a 23-yard field goal. Quarterback Rich Popp got the Pats moving in the opening drive when he caught Fordson's secondary napping and hit Larry Patzsch with a 17-yarder. Then, Wood came up with a 15-yard rush which moved the visitors deep into Fordson territory. However, Popp could not get the offense in gear to go the distance, so Wood came out and booted the field goal. The Tractors, got a second chance to increase the margin of victory later in the initial half when they maneuvered to the Franklin 5-yard-line, but the defense, led by end Bob Stebbins, Gary Staub, John Chmielewski, Chris Lewis, Sasho

Philipowski and Joey Probst, managed to deny their rivals the rest of the yardage. Franklin came out the domineered most of the second half, keeping the action in Tractor territory but the reigning Northwest Suburban Conference champs couldn't come up with the right combination to score. "Fordson picked up 114 yards in the first period of which 64 went to Harris on that TD run," Vigna pointed out. "We gave up 17 yards in the second period, 22 in the third and only 17 in the fourth — we won the battles, but unfortunately they won the war." It's the wars that count, coach. Franklin went to the air instead of on the ground in its attempt to beat their hosts. Popp attempted what must be a school record 40 passes and completed 15 for 175 yards. In comparison, the Tractors tried 10 aerials and connected on four for 44 yards. However, Popp had four of his aerials stolen by Fordson defenders. "I believe that if he (Popp) and the receivers had a little more on the ball that day we could have had at least three TDs," Vigna said. With Fordson behind them and crosstown rival, Bentley, lying ahead, the Livonians still are not out of the playoff picture. They must however beat Bentley Friday night to stay alive. But Bentley has always been a thorn in the Pats' sides. "It's a must game for us," Vigna said. "No doubt about it. And it's one of those games where you throw out all the records because of the intense city rivalry. We have to beat Bentley to keep our hopes alive. We're still not dead, not by a long shot."

Wayne, Glenn duel for Classic crown

ras to the one where Boyer took over.

Before turning into a defensive duel in the second half, Wayne wrapped up the scoring with a 42-yard pass from Quartuccio to Tony Bass that polished off a 76-yard, six-play drive with 7:30 left in the half. Quartuccio tried 10 passes and hit on three for a total of 83 yards and one TD. He was also intercepted once.

Wayne received excellent defensive efforts from Jim Newsom who picked off two passes, while Schultz got one and so did speedy T.J. Harris. Along with Lynn's blocked punt, Marty Smith accounted for a fumble recovery.

"It was the best hitting that I have seen all year by our kids," said Carter. "Our kids played tough with someone who is about our caliber."

Carter had a lot of praise for his defense that gave up a total of 125 yards rushing. He applauded the performances of inside linebacker Schultz, as well as tackle Glenn Miller, end Jeff Morrow, Marty Smith and linebacker Daryl Rize. In the secondary, Newsom was outstanding, while center Joe Darkangelo got the job done on the line.

Westland John Glenn, favored in some quarters by 10 points, lost a heartbreaker, 14-11, to the Polar Bears of Highland Park on Friday afternoon. The loss dropped the Rockets' season record to 6-2, and ended their non-conference winning streak at six games.

A stiff wind blew out of the west as the Rockets arrived at the home of the Polar Bears, located behind the old Ford plant in Highland Park. The game was their first encounter ever against the team from Highland Park. The team was greeted by the cheers of 39 loyal fans who made the trip to Highland Park aboard a bus supplied by a local business. The team wanted to win this game not only for their fans, but to improve their season record to 7-1 and give impetus to next week's game against crosstown rival Wayne Memorial.

Glenn and Highland Park exchanged punts through the first five minutes of the first quarter as both teams got the feel for the game and both waiting for the other to make the mistake that would open up a path to the end zone.

The Polar Bears got their first big break in the middle of the quarter when Todd Jennings sent a punt sailing into the wind. Punt returner Larry Blockett took it about the 34-yard line and raced down the left sideline.

Blockett was tackled at the 13-yard line, where he proceeded to guide the Bears into the end zone at 5:57 of the first quarter. A two-point conversion pass to Rashi Shannon followed and Highland Park led, 8-0.

But the Rockets didn't travel all that way for nothing. They used the remainder of the quarter to drive down the field themselves, scoring on a two-yard run by Jennings. For Jennings, it was his seventh TD of the season. Coach Gordon chose to go for two at this point in order to tie the game. But the best-laid plans of mice and men often go astray and the two-point attempt went for naught, leaving Glenn trailing, 8-6.

Both defenses took over at this point and controlled the rest of the first half. It was readily apparent to all that from the :35 second mark of the first quarter to the 0:00 mark of the fourth quarter that this game would be won in the "trenches". Both coaches had to be proud of their defenses and the way they both refused to break.

At halftime, Glenn trailed, 8-6, but it looked like the Glenn offensive line was beginning to move the Polar Bear defensive line. The Rockets and their coaches left the field confident that with a few adjustments, the game would be theirs.

Glenn got that first opportunity to take the lead at 6:09 of the third quarter. After driving down the field on the strong legs of Jennings, who amassed 134 yards on the day, and Don Forchione, who picked up 59, the Rockets were stopped short of the goalline. But no matter — Todd Jennings kicked a 31-yard field goal and the Rockets led, 9-8. Now it was up to the defense to hold onto the lead.

Led by nose guard Joe Sawaya and tackle Kurt Robertson, they stopped the Bear offense cold and allowed the offense to get its hands on the ball. The offense got the ball, but penalties set them back deep in its own territory. On an attempted hand-off between quarterback Jeff Hawley and tailback Jennings, the ball bounced free and a Highland Park defender fell on it at the 10-yard line. A couple plays later, quarterback Blockett sneaked the ball over center into the end zone and the Bears led, 14-9. Glenn broke up the attempted two-point conversion pass and kept themselves in range of winning the game.

And anybody who has seen Glenn play this year can tell you is that the Rockets do not give up. Taking over the ball at their 31-yard line, they began a drive reminiscent of a drive earlier in the year that beat Northville.

Using Jennings as the main back (he picked up 46 yards on the drive) and Forchione as the decoy, the Rockets moved down the field virtually unimpeded. The offensive line—John Ericson, Jon Madish, Mike Miller, Todd Mills, Dan Strehl, Jack Walker—pushed back the Polar Bears' defensive line and opened up holes for the backs.

With less than a minute to go,

Glenn sat on the 5-yard line and Highland Park was on the ropes. An illegal procedure penalty stopped Glenn temporarily. But the Rockets kept on pushing down to the two. Here, Jennings took the handoff on fourth down, went left, and seemingly had the hole to run through. But the Highland Park defense closed that hole quickly and the Rockets were stopped cold.

But, alas, the Rockets still had hope. The Polar Bears took an intentional safety and gave the ball back to Glenn on their own 15 yard line. These never-say-die Rockets were going to go for it all on one play. Hawley threw a pass to Brian Grassel who lateraled it to Mills, who attempted to get down the field for the winning score. But Highland Park smelled it out and the victory was theirs, 14-11.

Now it is the big one for Glenn. The City Championship and the bragging rights for the next year will be on the line on Friday night at 7:30 at Kionka Field. Both teams will be ready for this one. Glenn, with its 6-2 record, and Wayne, at 3-5, will enter the game like it is 0-0 on the season and go at it for 60 minutes on the field.

Glenn's Junior Varsity team defeated Highland Park, 36-0, last Thursday night as Dave Husak (3 touchdowns), Cass Simpson (one) and Ron Taig (one) combined for the scoring honors.

Belleville travels to Canton for final test

When the defense is there, the offense isn't — and vice-versa.

That's the problem with Belleville High's Tigers as the 1982 football season comes to an end Friday night for Coach Mike Colletta and his gridders.

Belleville will travel to Plymouth Canton for its grid finale and the two teams will sport identical 3-5 records. However, Belleville has a 2-0 edge over Rich Barr and the Chiefs in the series.

"We both have had our share of problems and injuries," Colletta noted. "I view this game as important because it is the last one. We'd like to end the year on a high note."

Colletta couldn't find much to say about his offense after the Tigers were shut out 13-0 by Dearborn's Pioneers in the Suburban 8, now Suburban 4, curtain-drawer. Belleville couldn't generate an offense which prompted the Tiger coach to comment:

"It seems when we turn in a good defensive performance, the offense has its problems; then when we get the TDs as we did against Trenton a week ago, the defense gives in. I just wonder what would happen if we should put everything together."

Belleville's defense held the highly-touted Pioneer offense in check for more than 15 minutes before Jon Podany climaxed a 13-play drive that was launched from the Pioneer 45 with a 2-yard TD run.

Dearborn got an insurance touchdown in the third period after the Pioneers intercepted a Tiger pass in the Belleville end zone. The Pioneers marched 80-yards in nine plays that was culminated by Mike Gass's 8-yard touchdown run.

"We got to their 20, and that's the furthest penetration of the evening," Colletta said. "We then threw that interception."

Dearborn's solid defense limited the Tiger ballcarriers to a total of 89 yards of which tailback Arnell Hailes got 58 of those on 12 attempts.

The Tigers can boast of some excellent defensive efforts from Rod LaFramboise and linebackers Martin Donaldson and Pete McWilliams.

'Jinx' awaits Eagles?

Romulus explodes, 36-0

If there is a better way for tuning up for Dearborn Heights Robichaud, Romulus couldn't have found a better confidence-builder than its lopsided 39-0 victory last week over Redford Thurston.

All systems appeared "go" for Coach Norb Glover's Eagles who received a superlative offensive performance from Jerome Austin and Darrin Grandison.

Grandison amassed 102 yards in 10 carries en route to a four touchdown game, while the spectacular Austin scored two sizzling TDs on runs of 90 yards and 89 yards.

Austin finished with 225 of the 390 yards rushing clocked by his team. He had 11 chances with the ball.

"I have to say that this was the best over-all effort by our team this year," Glover said. The first year coach also sealed a winning season with his fifth triumph in eight starts. Romulus had failed to find the victory column last year.

But the Eagles will be fighting a "jinx", of sorts, Friday night when they host Robichaud, the reigning Suburban Athletic Conference champs. Coach Bob Yauck's Bulldogs share the title with once-beaten Highland Park and Ecorse.

The "jinx" comes in the nefarious form of the Romulus home field. The Eagles have not won on the home turf since moving from the high school to the junior high field.

"I don't believe in the jinx," Glover said. "We just have to get out there and prove we're the better team."

They didn't have to prove anything of the sort to Thurston. Thurston learned quickly that they were no match this year for the speedy Eagles as Austin ripped off 90 yards on the third play from scrimmage in the opening drive of the game. Scoring on that sensational run, Austin wasn't through with his hosts as he came back in the third period with another long one, an 89-yard TD sprint.

Grandison scored Romulus' second quarter TD on a 44-yarder, lifting the Eagles to a 13-0 lead at halftime. Romulus tilted the scoreboard for 12 points in the third and 14 points in the fourth frames.

Grandison's other TDs came off an interception, returned 35-yards into the end zone; a pass play with Matt Bossory flipping the ball to Terry Roache who fired it downfield to Grandison for a 25-yard scoring pass.

Grandison wrapped it up with a 17-yarder around end.

Matt Sullivan kicked two extra points.

Glover said that his defensive team, led by linebacker Gary Hardwick, who has 88 tackles for the season — 7 solos and 4 assists against Thurston — Troy Harper, Eddy Eddings, Kevin Collins and Shawn Perkins looked the "best it has all season."

Mulligan's name omitted

In last week's sports section of The Associated Newspapers, the name of Colleen Mulligan was inadvertently omitted from the results of the Monroe-Wayne swim meet.

Miss Mulligan amassed 152.15 points and finished second in diving, helping the Zebras win the meet.

Rocks' win streak ends at 7

Harrison derails Salem playoff express

TOM MOSHIMER

Plymouth Salem's football team was set up.

The Rocks, who were scheduled to play Farmington Harrison, Saturday, found out Friday they were in the perfect position to take over the top spot in the regional football rankings after Trenton dumped Edsel Ford and Monroe collapsed against Wyandotte.

All the Rocks had to do was win. Had the Rocks come through, they would have won more than a football game, they were in a position to win the Western Lakes Association championship.

Salem, however, got caught in a speed trap, also known as John Miller. Miller, Harrison's top runner has 1,000 rushing yards for the season and stopped Salem's undefeated season with two nifty fourth-quarter runs that set up Ken Kish's winning touchdown toss to Rick Main.

Kish, Harrison's senior quarterback, was definitely in charge of the radar gun. He was also responsible for a 12-yard pass to Gordie Dawson, which brought Harrison back from a 7-0 deficit.

"We played as good football game as we played all year," said Salem Coach Tom Moshimer, who saw his team drop its first game. "And turnovers (Salem had one on the 5 and Harrison one on the 20) and didn't really play much of a part in the defeat."

The Rocks, newcomers in the conference, made themselves at home on Harrison's field, marching downfield in nine plays after Rick Broderick picked off a Kish pass to take a 7-0 lead. Dave Haut went the final nine yards of a 52-yard drive. Harrison, which had excellent field position most of the contest, came right back with Kish's first touchdown pass of the afternoon and the two teams went into the lockerroom tied at 7-7.

Despite giving up size to Salem, the Hawks, who were rated third in the state, weren't about to give up much else. Miller broke through for consecutive runs around end, the first one netting 37 yards and the second 23, to put his team in position for the go-ahead touchdown in the third quarter. And even an offer of help from Rochester football players in the overflow crowd didn't stiffen the Rocks. "We had Miller stop ped both times, but he just bounded off the pile," said an admiring Moshimer, who admitted the play-offs may be just a remote possibility.

The veteran coach conceded the top finish in the region to the winner of the Edsel Ford-Fordson game, Saturday. Ypsilanti, which travels to Flint, has the inside track on the second spot.

"We figured, after the Friday upsets, we had the opportunity to control our destiny," Moshimer said. "Now, we have to wait and see what other teams do."

Salem, which completed just four passes for 38 yards and was held to just 98 yards on the ground, plays Redford Union in its season finale. RU is not expected to provide much opposition, looking at its two-win slate.

Ten Pin Topics

Riffle rolls perfect 300 game

By JIM WRUBLEWSKI

This week may well be classified as "The Week That Was".

Bowlers have, quite literally, gone on a scoring blitz. There are several scores which fall into the "Outstanding" category, and it is difficult deciding which is the most impressive.

Charlie Riffle, at Westland Bowl, rolled his first perfect game, that coveted 300 score, to forever etch this season in his memory. Charlie said that the excitement was so great he had trouble accepting congratulations from his fellow bowlers because he was floating so high.

Left-handed Tom Laroue, bowling at Fiesta Lanes and carrying a 183 average, reached another type of bowlers milestone by breaking the 800 series barrier. Laroue put together games of 279-267-268 for 814. Any of Tom's games, by itself, is outstanding, but to put together three of them at one time is phenomenal.

One of the side effects of this kind of scoring is that someone else shoots a normally high score only to be over shadowed and, to some extent, left at the side lines.

As an example, while Laroue was making his mark in the record books, Tim Deherage had a 265 game on his way to 732 and Bill Wilson, 247 for 708 to receive not much more than a "nice shooting, fellows".

And with Charlie Riffle coming through with this season's first touch on perfection we also had Dick Bond, just one pin away, with a 299 game at Westland Bowl along with Joseph Panick doing the same with a 299 game at Town & Country Lanes.

In action at Wayne Bowl J.R. Mach put together games of 208-257-227 for 692 to go 170 plus pins over his average. Audrey Vargo, at a 140 average, threw seven strikes in a row for 224, and Ron Steen went 102 pins over his normal pace for a 222 game.

Sibling rivalry had brothers, David and Richard Morten, in the 12 and under age bracket, capture the stars of the week honors in their league with David hitting 144 to go 64 pins over his average and 11 year old Richard posting his first 200 game with a 205.

The leaders at Lodge Lanes this week included Harry MacArthur with 275, 17 year old Brian Melidonian with a 225, and 14 year old Karen McMillan hitting 212.

Fiesta Lanes also featured Ron Eidson and Tony Collins at 676 each; Bob Hopkins at 673; Lou Roach with 666; Jeff Sindlinger at 665; and Charlie Anderson rolling a strike-spare-strike combination for a "dutch" 200.

The younger set (15 to 18 years old) featured 140 average Rick Hawley shooting 204 to go 130 pins over on his way to a 550 series. Doug Corey, 203; and Kelly Hainley at 170.

Bob Hannenberg has been doing his share at Superbowl these past few weeks by recording series of 663-661-643 and Don Plumb had a 276 game on his way to 691.

Westland Bowl was the site of many high scores with team mates Dick Cockerill at 263 and 699; Dave Schwartz, 670; and Bill Terry rolling a 203 triplicate on their way to a 3054 series. Jim Mijal had a 268 for 690; Pat Allen, 679; Steve Kiefer, 666; Rick Greher, 661; and 172 average Steve Demarco rolled 652.

142-average Butch Paramenter hit 247 to go 105 pins over his average. Frank Biscoe got stuck in a nice rut on games of 244-248-244 for 736, Bob Pniewski at 729; John Hurley with 728 and 693; Randy Gazdag, 264 and 720; Denny Feloni, 725, Steve Hubble, 705; Dave Jacobs, 692; Paul McMurphy hit 279, and Pete Overaitis finished at 273.

148-average Jerry McGuinn hit 234 and 17 year old Chris LaFave

He bagged his deer with arrow

Thirteen-year-old David Osak showed his "bigger brother" and his father just how to use a bow-and-arrow. Invited to go North had 202-213-214 for 619 to wrap up a stand-out week.

The always popular Association Mixed Doubles Tournament dates have been set for Town & Country Lanes on Saturdays, Nov. 13 and 20, and Sundays, November 14 and 21.

Be sure to turn in your entry blanks, available at area establishments, early to insure a spot. Contact Beverly Haggadone at 427-1485 or Joe Reynolds at 729-0309 for additional information.

on the annual deer hunting trek, David bagged a 4-point deer while his brother and father came back empty handed.

Romulus cagers score victory

Scoring a career high 22 points, Cheryl Hawk led Romulus High to a 63-49 victory over Dearborn Heights Robichaud in a non-league girls' basketball contest last week.

Two other Romulus cagers reached double figures as Yolanda Smith contributed 16 and Iona Steele chipped in 11 points.

However, Hawk got 12 points and Tammy Richardson added 10 points and 20 rebounds in digesting a 53-45 setback at the hands of neighboring Belleville.

Canton woman sought in murder investigation

By GENE MIERZEJEWSKI
ANP Staff Writer

Police are still seeking a 25-year-old Canton woman accused of killing an Ann Arbor man in a holdup attempt last Thursday evening.

Dead from a gunshot to the head is Jess William Brown Jr., 27, of Ann Arbor, who was apparently set up for the robbery attempt by two acquaintances.

Two Canton men — George McCue, 25, and Ricki Sparks, 31 — are in custody and have been charged with assault with intent to rob. Still at large, however, is Delores Jean Federico, the accused trigger woman.

According to Canton Police Cpl. Robin Cripe, the two men allegedly arranged the holdup to pay for drugs they had bought from Federico.

"They were unable to come up with the money they owed, so it was suggested that they rob someone to take care of the debt," Cripe said. "The name of the victim came up because it was believed he usually had quite a bit of money on him."

The trio reportedly devised a plan to rob Brown, Cripe said, choosing a site on Lotz Road south of Michigan Avenue, where Federico would pretend she had car trouble. When Brown stopped to offer help, the holdup would take place, Cripe said.

McCue apparently was accompanying Brown, while Sparks was hidden in Federico's car, Cripe said. To make the robbery look unplanned, Federico allegedly was supposed to rob both Brown and McCue, he said.

"When the victim got of the car, something must have gone astray because she shot Brown in the head," Cripe said. "There wasn't supposed to be any shooting — the feeling was that the victim was going to give up his money without a fight."

According to the detective, neither McCue nor Sparks saw what caused the gunplay.

Struck by a slug from what police believe is a .38 caliber revolver, Brown was pronounced dead at 7:58 p.m. at Wayne County General Hospital.

Police said that it is not known if any money was taken. Money was found on Brown's person, but his wallet was missing, police said.

Cripe declined to specify how much money McCue and Sparks owed Federico. "It was more than $100, but it was not what I would call a substantial amount," he said.

The two men gave conflicting stories on the kind of drugs purchased from Federico, he added.

The Canton police were not aware of Federico's drug dealing, Cripe said, but it was discovered she was under investigation by the Federal Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA).

According to the DEA, Federico's husband, Joseph, is now serving a sentence for a narcotics charge at a federal penitentiary in Missouri.

The woman, who lived in an apartment complex on Warren Road, had no prior record with the Canton Police Department, Cripe said. Police believe, however, that she had drug contacts throughout the Detroit metropolitan area.

"From what I understand, she deals in just about everything," Cripe said.

Police described Federico as 5 feet, 6 inches tall, 125 pounds, with green eyes and blond hair. She is to be considered armed and dangerous.

Still unrecovered is the suspect's car, a light blue 1977 Grand Prix with license plate number ZGC 325.

Delores Jean Federico

Anyone with knowledge of Federico's whereabouts is urged to call the Canton police at 397-3350 at any time.

According to Cripe, the murder is the first slaying ever handled by the township police force.

Kudla enters U.S. Air Force

Timothy A. Kudla, 20 son of Sandra Dubois, 6005 Dexter, Romulus, has entered the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

According to Technical Sergeant Ed Lehmann, the Air Force recruiter here, Kudla will commence four years active duty on Feb. 25, 1983, undergoing six weeks basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex. Upon completion of basic, he will receive accelerated promotion to Airman First Class for receiving the Billy Mithcell and Amelia Earhart Awards from the Civil Air Patrol.

The Air Force has guaranteed that Kudla, a 1981 graduate of Romulus High School, will then receive Material Facilities Specialist training at Lowry Air Force Base, Colorado, and upon completion be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Keith A. Boc, 18, son of Jerry and Grace Boc, 38315 Walnut, Romulus, has also entered the U.S. Air

Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

Tech. Sergeant Lehmann, the Air Force recruiter here, said Boc will commence four years active duty on May 5, 1983, undergoing six weeks basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

The Air Force has guaranteed that Boc, a 1982 graduate of Romulus High School, will then receive Security Specialist training, and upon completion be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Airman Kipper A. Bray son of Phyllis Bray of 10688 Buchanan St., Belleville, has been assigned to Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas, after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the aircraft maintenance field.

He is a 1980 graduate of Belleville High School.

Timothy S. Marshall, 19, son of Jerry and Joan Marshall, 50946 Martz, Belleville, has entered the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

Marshall will enter the Regular Air Force on May 6, 1983. Following graduation from the six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., he will receive technical training in the general aptitude area and be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

A detailed black and white line drawing of various antique furniture and household items. In the center is a large, ornate clock with a round face and decorative carvings. To its left is a small, dark-colored stove or heater with a chimney pipe. To the right of the clock is a desk or writing table with a chair tucked under it. In the foreground, there is a large, plush armchair with a high back and decorative patterns. Behind the clock, there is a small wooden cabinet or chest of drawers. The entire scene is set against a plain background, emphasizing the variety of antiques available for sale or auction.
